THE ROMULUS ROMAN

81st Year - No. 12 Wednesday, March 20, 1974 15 Cents

HAPPY MOMENT — These two Romulus youngsters brought their tricycles out of mothballs and took to the pavement last week with a shout about spring's return only to have their happy moment ended with a blast of cold winter air. Undaunted by the change in temperature, Wesley Webb and his sister, Mary, donned heavier clothing and continued their traverse of neighborhood sidewalks. — Romulus Roman photo.

Suggest change Officials opposing location of school

Romulus city officials say they will vigorously oppose the construction of a new junior high school on Wick Road, west of the C and O Railroad tracks in the city. They contend that the site is a poor one for the construction of a school.

The Romulus Board of Education purchased 30 acres of land on Wick Road for about $3,500 per acre. The school district already owned 20 acres of land adjacent to the site.

"That is a good price for land," said Romulus Mayor Terry Troutt. "But that isn't the only thing you consider when building a school that is to last several generations."

"The board of education has asked that the city upgrade the roadway and improve the railroad crossing for construction of the school," Troutt added.

"THE CITY doesn't have money to throw away for improving a road which serves few people, right now, when we have other roads serving thousands of people that are in need of improvement immediately," he said.

Troutt's statement followed the receipt of a letter from Romulus School Supt. Robert L. McConaghy stating that the "crossing must be considered a safety hazard" and requesting a meeting to discuss its improvement.

"What it amounts to is the schools requiring service for one parcel of land, when there are many better sites available for schools throughout the city," Troutt said. "I favor a site on Wayne Road for school construction."

Troutt is backed by the city's planning consultants and a letter from Romulus City Planner John Chihan. Both said the Wick Road site is poor for school construction.

BOTH OPINIONS indicate the site is "out of the way" of the normal traffic flow in the city and would create problems for residents living on Wick Road.

"For $6,500 to $7,500 per acre the district could have a site on Wayne Road 100 per cent better than the one they now have," Troutt added. "And I think the city ought to point that out."

Troutt declares war on city blight

Blight in Romulus will be cleaned up in the near future. Or citizens will be taken to court.

That was the ultimatum handed down by Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt in announcing a massive code enforcement program in the community scheduled during the next few months.

"While the city's continuing with inspections of new housing to check for code violations by builders, it also intends to proceed with a new code enforcement program for those citizens who don't seem to be able to live in a neat manner," Troutt said. "There's no reason citizens of this city must live in garbage."

"THERE IS regular garbage pick up, and the firm takes everything that the people leave at their curb."

"So there's no reason refuse should lay around."

Troutt said his building inspectors, the city's ordinance officer and a new assistant ordinance officer will be scoring the city in a door-to-door search for blight.

"They'll be attempting to root out this crud in our community, to improve its image," Troutt added.

RESIDENTS from throughout Romulus will be sent letters informing them of the clean-up campaign, and giving them two weeks to clear their land of refuse, before the inspectors come.

"After that, there will be no warnings, just citations," Troutt said. "The courts will be crowded for weeks, if the people who litter this community don't comply."

"I'm telling the men that no one gets a 'break,' and that everyone cleans up ... or else."

Moore asks Tillotson to resign from board

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

A disagreement over the issuing of a temporary use permit to locate a mobile home on a single family lot in Huron Township and some alleged name-calling apparently have prompted the township supervisor to request the resignation of the appeals board chairman.

The two township officials, who reportedly have not seen eye-to-eye on township issues in several months, became embroiled in a charge-and-denial rift last week, after the supervisor contended that the board chairman accused him of "malfeasance and misfeasance in office" at a public meeting of the board of appeals.

Huron Township Supervisor George Moore then asked for the chairman's resignation from the volunteer, $100-a-year chair position at Wednesday's meeting of the board of trustees. The trustees, however, told Moore that he did not have the power to remove James Tillotson from office, prompting the highest township official to angrily walk out of the meeting. Moore is in the process of petitioning the state attorney general for a ruling on his authority to fire Tillotson.

TILLOTSON denied ever using the words malfeasance and misfeasance at the meeting, and launched a counter-attack at Moore.

"I don't know what he's talking about with these charges," he said. "I never used those words and I'm not going to be drawn into any confrontation with him. Maybe he's looking for publicity but I'm not."

The incident had been brewing for several months, Moore said.

Romulus to test county on right to seize land

Romulus' city attorney will proceed with a court test of the Wayne County Road Commission's right to take Romulus residents' land.

Mayor Terry L. Troutt ordered the attorney to proceed with research on an injunction against further expansion of the airport following a meeting with the representatives of the Wayne County Road Commission.

"The road commission seemed to think they had the right to proceed the way they did in taking people's land, without informing them of all their rights, and the city told them they were wrong," Troutt said.

ROMULUS HAS to comply with regulations for using funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in the urban renewal program, and I think the commission should follow the same procedures with the funds they obtained from the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA)," he added.

Troutt held the meeting last Tuesday following an emotion packed special meeting of the Romulus City Council at which residents of the city detailed how they were "choked" out of funds they felt they deserved by the road commission's staff.

"Our man at the meeting seemed to be very indignant that we would 'stir up' the commission's staff" (Continued on Page A-3)

The carrier who delivers this newspaper to your door, will be calling to collect 50 cents for the month of March. This will include payment for the issue of March 27. If your paper was started late in the month, he will collect a smaller amount.

Your carriers will appreciate prompt payment. If you have any suggestions on how he can improve his service to you, he invites your suggestions.

Telephone is a valuable tool in Romulus' law enforcement

A policeman's most important tool is not his gun, his handcuffs or his automobile. It's the telephone.

According to Donald Smith, Romulus' community liaison officer for the Wayne County Sheriff, it is a tip by telephone which helps solve the crime.

"One call from a concerned neighbor will stop a burglary," Smith said. "If someone calls, and informs the police of a suspicious activity, we can check it out."

"OTHERWISE, the chance of solving burglaries, particularly in single family homes, is nearly nil."

Smith said it is difficult for an officer patrolling a neighborhood to know when activity inside a home is unusual.

"Everyone has different habits," he said. "We can catch a burglar inside a business, because we know when people should be there."

"So inside the neighborhoods, we need a little extra cooperation to help stop crime."

"A NEIGHBOR generally knows when activity around a home is unusual, and when he sees it, he should call us."

Smith said the public's tendency is to apologize for "disturbing" the police.

"They'll say, 'I don't know if I should bother you, but...'" said Smith. "That's the wrong attitude, because the sheriff is there to serve, not to complain about being 'disturbed' on the job."

"Police are happy to take calls."

ALTHOUGH POLICE are willing to take anonymous calls, they prefer a call where the telephoner identifies himself.

"It allows us to check back," Smith said. "Sometimes there isn't a case if there is no witness, or we'll need someone to corroborate a time for us, or we'll need a little more information."

Coal dealer must close Laws threaten his business

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

With heating fuel and natural gas prices skyrocketing, and the threats of more shortages in the future, the most natural resource for heating homes and business places is coal.

But unless current air pollution regulations are changed, there won't even be coal to burn.

Romulus Johnson, 47, the operator of Johnson's Fuel and Supply Company in the city, will sell his last shovelfull of coal sometime this spring, and may never be allowed to stock the heating material again.

"I'VE BEEN told I can't sell coal after August," said Johnson as he was sitting in his office on Goddard Road, east of the C and O Railroad tracks.

"The business has been going down for years, and now the government tells us we have to stop selling the fuel, even though people still use it and ask for it," he added.

Johnson has operated the business for the past 17 years, seeing it decline from an enterprise which sold 300 "cars" of coal during the winter to one which sold only 15 or 16 "cars" last winter.

"People switched to other sources of heating energy by themselves," Johnson said. "Now the government is forcing them to switch."

"THEY DON'T say that people can't burn coal, but they do say I can't sell it."

"It's just another case where the government is trying to change someone's lifestyle."

Gerald Arquette, 48, has seen the coal supply business for the past 37 years while he worked at the yard. He remembers the days when one and two 50-ton cars of coal dropped their load the Norfolk and Western siding near the business each day, and has shoveled a great deal of that coal himself.

"We used to have nine guys working here daily, just hauling coal," he said. "It's been my life for all these years and now it's almost gone."

ARQUETTE, who lives in an apartment above a storage shed at the company site, said a combination of factors, including progress in the field of fuel and natural gas heating, land acquisition by the Detroit Metropolitan Airport and urban renewal in Romulus eliminated the need for coal.

"It's been my life all these years."

"Everyone made the switch," he said. "It started in the early 1960's, when they went through the Norwayne Subdivision in Westland and converted more than 1,900 coal-burning homes to fuel burning furnaces."

"Now we have only four customers over there. But if they don't allow us to continue to sell coal, I'll be out of a job."

ARQUETTE and one other part-time employee worked for Johnson's Fuel and Supply this winter.

They loaded tons of coal with such romantic names as Pocohantas, Cannel, Anthracite and Kentucky from mines in Virginia, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Ohio.

Deliveries will stop this summer though.

"It makes no sense," he said. "There's enough coal in this country to burn for 300 years, while the gas and fuel supplies are going down fast."

"BUT THE government talks about air pollution, and won't allow anyone to burn it."

Ocie Courtney is one of those who recently "went back" to burning coal during the past winter in an effort to avoid the fuel crunch.

"You don't save much money," he said. "But you're pretty assured of having fuel, if the oil runs out."

"I liked it. But now if they're going to stop selling it, I don't know what we'll do when the oil runs out."

JOHNSON isn't particularly worried about the cut-back in coal sales because his company offers other items for sale.

"I'll be able to stay in business," he said. "But I would rather allow the coal sales to decline gradually than see them cut off all at once."

"This year I sold to 120 customers on a regular basis."

"What are they going to do for heating next winter?"

INSIDE Johnson's Fuel and Supply stands an old cast-iron pot-bellied stove. Johnson said he purchased it to heat a building on his property during construction.

"I wanted to make sure the water system in the new transit mix cement operation didn't freeze during construction," he said. "I never had to use it though and the construction's nearly completed."

Now that the work is almost done, the water is being heated by other means for the cement operation.

Johnson installed a fuel heating system.

But this spring's clean up may be the last for Arquette and one other part-time helper who hauls coal, because Johnson's will be prohibited from selling the fuel in August of this year, unless air pollution regulations are changed.—photo by Romulus Roman Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko.

Ford bills could ease average citizen's load

Democratic Congressman William D. Ford has taken the federal government to task, introducing three pieces of legislation in the House of Representatives to aid the absentee voting process, veterans and their dependents and senior citizens.

Similar to a bill introduced by Oregon Senator Robert Packwood, Ford's Postage Free Absentee Voting Act authorizes the free mailing of the ballots, their instructions and return envelopes to any voters requesting them.

It also would permit free return mailing to the appropriate official for tabulation.

According to the congressman, the idea for the bill came from a Dearborn Heights city official who, for several years, has advocated such a mailing system.

"My proposal will encourage and promote a greater participation in the electoral process," Ford said of the legislation. "Citizens have no greater power, or expression of sentiment, than through their vote, and as their representatives, it should be one of our primary responsibilities to evoke an even greater interest in our democratic system."

Ford who represents Michigan's 15th Congressional District, also has sponsored a bill which would protect veterans and their dependents from having their benefits cut or discontinued as a result of recent increases in Social Security benefits.

According to the congressman, federal law requires that Social Security payments be counted as income in calculating the total income to determine eligibility for Veteran Administration (VA) benefits.

Ford said that rising Social Security benefits are putting some pensioners in worse financial shape than prior to the increases.

"Although we have passed legislation increasing Social Security payments by 11 percent, the law does not guarantee that these increases actually will benefit all recipients," he said.

"More than 1,300,000 persons now receiving VA benefits will find their checks reduced, and thousands will actually be disqualified for veterans' pensions because of the Social Security increases," Ford added.

The bill also will guarantee that the Social Security benefits would not affect adversely the benefits received by veterans, their widows or dependents, Ford said.

THE THIRD bill strikes out at what the congressman called the Nixon administration's "continuing, callous neglect of America's senior citizens."

The legislation calls for the establishment of a National Institute on Aging to conduct and support research into the aging process and in the treatment and cure of diseases of the elderly.

The bill also would create a National Advisory Council on Aging

Health panel sponsors Huron checkup clinic

The Huron Health Committee, a torch drive agency, is sponsoring a Huron Health Day for residents of Huron Township and surrounding communities from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on May 1.

Included in the day's activities will be an immunization clinic for school children beginning at 9 a.m.

Representatives from the Kidney Foundation and the Detroit Society for the Blind will be manning two machines respectively at booths during the day.

A blood donation program also will be held during the health day with a designation system in which the donor can indicate to where he would like the blood credited.

Hearing tests also will be conducted, and the committee has decided to use a number system to handle participants at the busiest testing areas.

A display center will include informational literature from Poison Control, Drug Control, Planned Parenthood and a nutritional program from Michigan State University and the state's Department of Social Services.

Three rooms will be used for immunization with the youngsters to be handled during the morning session of the clinic. Preschoolers and food handlers cards will be done in one room.

The committee also has used clothing available for all residents with medical loan items restricted to Huron Township residents.

Chamber has list for energy saving

Some timely tips on saving energy by curtailing electric use without hazards to health, safety, community services or any direct economic loss have been issued by the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Typical examples in which individuals or firms can assist are in the areas of lighting, heating and appliance use, according to the chamber's executive director, Theodore Kuckelman.

In the lighting area, energy saving can be accomplished by reducing non-security, advertising, floodlighting, non-productive area lighting, outdoor and decorative applications and display lighting.

Ventilating and air conditioning can be turned off when not in need and temperature setting adjustments can be made with reductions in fresh air requirements to save on heat.

State studies plan for medical facility

The structural plans for Belleville's new multi-million dollar hospital complex are being reviewed this week by the Department of Licensing and Registration of the Michigan Department of Public Health.

The plans were submitted to the state agency by the architect, V.M. Piland & Associates Inc., project contractor, both of Tulsa, Okla.

The submission of the plans for state approval is the first step prior to construction of the $6.8 million dollar medical development.

The Romulus Community Schools were among 81 school districts in the state to share $2.3 million in grants for basic adult education programs.

The school district was awarded $5,887 as its share of the federal funds.

The funding is given to the school districts on a 90-10 percent matching basis. The local school district provides 10 percent of the cost of the program with the federal government picking up the rest of the tab.

A spokesman for the State Board of Education said that an estimated 55,000 adults participate in the adult education programs conducted by the 81 school districts.

Buffalo will not roam; Jiggs was found shot

By MITCH KEHETIAN
Enterprise-Roman Editor

The buffalo roam no more...Jiggs is dead.

Jiggs did not die from old age. He was gunned down by "someone who is sick..."

And for Dr. Clarence Carpenter, Jiggs' death closes the curtain to a buffalo herd once numbering 13 of the old West species.

"I'M NOT surprised. When people shoot at policemen and rob the blind," the saddened physician said. "What chance do harmless animals have?"

Jiggs was the last of Carpenter's buffalo herd.

"Now that they have killed off the entire herd, I hope they are satisfied," he said, with a note of bitterness.

Carpenter's animal kingdom lived on a fenced 35-acre farm along Van Born Road in Romulus.

AS THE operator of a medical clinic, he often took young patients out to meet the animals.

"The children loved the animals. On weekends parents would drive by to show their children real buffalo," he said.

Carpenter added that Jiggs died late last Friday. The "domesticated" buffalo died from a .22 caliber bullet.

"Whoever shot at Jiggs knew where to shoot," the veteran Western Wayne County medical physician said.

'People have no respect for life.'

"We got Jiggs about 15 years ago from the Detroit Zoo. At that time the zoo asked if we would be willing to help preserve some of our fleeing species of the old West," Carpenter said.

As for future plans, Carpenter added: "With Jiggs' death, it means the death of buffalo in Romulus. I'm not going to get anymore. Why should I, they'd get shot, too."

Carpenter said he never had Jiggs weighed, but added: "Officials at the Detroit Zoo said Jiggs was the biggest buffalo in these parts."

"JIGGS AND Maggie helped provide the foundation for new buffalo herds all over the country."

Maggie was Jiggs' mate. She was felled by a bullet several years ago.

Carpenter's animal kingdom, though dwindled down by "sick-minded persons," still lives with a collection of coyotes, a buzzard, some geese and ducks, several boars, a few wild birds and one owl.

Since the shooting started several years ago, Carpenter posted $500 "information" rewards.

"BUT NO ONE ever called," he said. "I guess no one cares."

Three weeks ago a shetland pony was shot and killed. A week later the pony's baby died.

"I guess we live in a different era. Each day our crime rate increases across the country. People have no respect for life anymore—be it human or animal," he bemoaned.

Like in the old West days, the buffalo roam no more...in Romulus.

A mudhole no longer

Funds will fix parking lot

THE FUTURE? — Romulus officials are fighting the Wayne County Road Commission to avoid a duplication of this scene on other Romulus roads. Here is what Northline Road in Romulus, east of Wayne Road has looked like since 1965, when the road commission extended a north-south runway through the air travel facility to handle larger jets, while cutting another link in Romulus apart. — Romulus Roman photo.

The long-standing mudhole—a parking lot—between Huron High School and Huron Junior High in New Boston is seeing the end of its days as a quagmire.

The Huron Board of Education Monday night approved an estimated $10,000 repair program for the lot, with initial improvements scheduled to be made "within the next month," said Phillip Dalley, Huron schools administrative assistant.

The first phase of the repair job will involve blanketing the parking lot with 100 tons of crushed stone, Dalley said. Eventually, a blacktopping would be added, he said.

THE BOARD also took into consideration a request by the high school student council for starting a hot lunch program for senior high students. Presently the school operates a vending machine lunch program.

Dalley said the student council pledged that the lunch program would be operated and administered by students.

The board also:

—received a copy of the permanent court injunction established in the case of Ron Suemnick, a handicapped Huron High athlete who won a court battle to play football last fall despite having an artificial leg. The injunction stated that no longer can a person without an arm or leg be denied the opportunity to compete in sports, Dalley said. The only restriction is that the artificial limb must be padded properly;

—RENEWED the contracts of senior and junior high athletic coaches: Mike Matthews (varsity track), Ron Smith (varsity baseball), Charles Unseld (junior varsity baseball), Rod McGee (ninth grade baseball), Gene Smith (junior high baseball), Shiela Furst (girls varsity track), Carol Sitko (softball) and Paul Engle (junior high track);

—announced that it will advertise for bids for a new sewer top for New Boston schools, and

—scheduled baccalaureate commencement at the high school for June 9.

The board also gave permission to the sophomore class to bring a semi-trailer truck onto the school grounds to aid in the class' paper drive and heard a request from the high school's Outdoor Challenge Club for approval of a trip to Algonquin Provincial Park in Ontario.

Supervisor asks Tillotson to quit

going to resign as supervisor in March, but I since changed my mind and now they've been trying to run me out," he added. "He (Tillotson) said I was neglecting my job and not advising people on zoning restrictions."

"He accused me of malfeasance and misfeasance in office at the board of appeals meeting along with accusing me of almost every other violation."

"The meeting was taped and I have the tape, so I know he said those things."

THE LAW says the supervisor shall appoint the planning commission and appeals board chairmen with the board of trustees' approval, and I think I should be able to remove him too," Moore added.

Tillotson also is the planning commission chairman and receives another $100 per year for the volunteer position.

According to Tillotson, Moore charged him with irresponsibility for issuing a temporary use permit for a mobile home to be located on a single-family-zoned lot containing another mobile home.

"The couple living in the permanent mobile home have been ill and I gave the permit so their child could be nearby to care for them," Tillotson said.

Contract teams chosen for talks

Four council members, headed by Romulus Mayor Pro Tem Beverly McAnally, will meet with seven representatives of Local 214 of the State, County and Municipal Workers branch of the Teamsters Union in negotiations for a public employee contract.

Included in the city's governmental negotiating team will be Mrs. McAnally; the council vice-chairperson, Mrs. Joan Lee, and councilmen Jack Prumle and William M. Oakley.

The union's negotiating team will be headed by the chief steward, Jack Cant. Rounding out the union's negotiations will be Russel Mahowski, steward; Rose Thurston, steward; Elvera Fischer, Mary Carter, William Case and Houston Glaster.

The contract expires June 30 after running for three years.

Before settlement was reached in the original contract between the city and the Teamsters, the employees of the city walked out a two-week strike.

Mayor Terry L. Troutt Monday said he was meeting with the council negotiating team to offer his position on the contract.

"But I won't be involved in the negotiations," he said. "The council has to ratify the agreement, so I'll let them handle the process."

residents of the community," Troutt said. "He said the city was doing nothing but rabble rousing - and I say damn right it is."

"If the road commission is cheating the residents of Romulus, I'll do anything I can to get the people of this city all they deserve, even if it involves rabble rousing to get it."

LAST WEEK'S meeting of the council, and the meeting with the road commission followed a series of seizures of the city's land south and east of the Detroit Metropolitan Airport for further expansion of the facility, Troutt said.

City officials maintain the land was taken without offering the owners full payment based on real value, and without giving the city its return on investment for water and sewer installation. "I told them (the road commission) that they owed Romulus everything for what they did to us," Troutt said. "our city is chopped up, cut up and disoriented because of that airport and it should receive something in return."

"But instead, Romulus gets stuck with debt from water and sewer lines because the road commission doesn't reimburse when they take them, and Romulus citizens live in poor housing because they aren't paid what their land's worth when the airport comes in."

TROUT SAID he is hoping all citizens of the community, particularly those who lost land in airport expansion since the beginning of 1971, get in contact with his office, to see if they're entitled to more under the federal law.

"I'll see that they get answers to their problems, particularly to money they're entitled to for relocation with airport expansion," Troutt said. "I find that many, many people weren't informed of their rights, and signed away their land without knowing them."

"I'm going to try to correct these situations,

Auxiliary picks 'the top' woman of the year in city

A social worker for the Family and Neighborhood Services in Romulus, has been selected the Romulus Jaycee Auxiliary's "Woman of the Year." She is Geneva Clark.

Mrs. Clark is the organizer of the "Eager Beavers" — parents of mentally retarded children — who help organize events in the community for mentally handicapped children.

During the summer, she also supervises the Romulus Community Workers, a group of high school-aged girls who help benefit the community with their volunteer work.

Rec commission supports showing of movies by Jaycees in Romulus

The Romulus Jaycees' "Movies for Kids Programs" on Saturdays recently received some increased support from the Romulus Recreation Commission.

The commission unanimously approved a $250 additional donation to the program at its meeting last week.

The commission approved a $300 donation to the program when it first started last January.

He declines to comment on statement

Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt said he has no official reaction to the city clerk's complaint he is "being left out" of the planning going on the city.

"It doesn't help the city to get into a shouting match inside city hall," Troutt said. "I have no comment, but I will discuss the matter with him."

Last week, Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar told The Romulus Roman that his responsibilities were being cut down, and his ability to handle his job duties was being hindered by an attitude in the city hall that he should be ignored.

The movies are shown at 1 p.m. every Saturday at the Romulus Senior High School Auditorium.

Children are treated to good "family entertainment" for 2½ hours each weekend, a Jaycee spokesman said.

Tickets can be purchased at any Romulus elementary school through the PTA at a cost of three for $1.

The Jaycees are seeking better participation in the program - billed as a "no profit - no loss" venture when first announced late last year.

According to the project chairman, Gary Johnson, attendance hasn't been as good as expected.

Part of the problem, is that the Jaycees are not allowed to advertise the film names

Classrooms are overcrowded

A factfinder has agreed with a teacher contention that oversized classes are too common in the Van Buren Public School District.

Millage defeat costly

The defeat of a two-mill school property tax increase for operating expenses by Van Buren Public School District voters will cost the school district approximately $590,395 for the 1974-75 school year.

Incumbent judges get a free ballot plug

By MITCH KEHETIAN
Enterprise-Roman Editor

In judicial circles, Don Binkowski has been branded "a rebel without a cause." Don happens to be a judge in the 37th district court servicing the cities of Warren and Center Line in Macomb County — and the rebel label comes from a sincere desire to negotiate election reform.

If Judge Binkowski seeks election reform, then why in the world hang a "rebel without a cause" label on his judicial robe?

THE TROUBLE with Don's campaign is that he sought to remove the ballot incumbency designation now enjoyed by Michigan's judiciary.

In the 1972 race for Judge of Probate Court in Macomb County, Binkowski was pitted against incumbent appointee Kenneth N. Sanborn. At election time, Binkowski was serving on the district court bench. But the ballot merely identified the rebel judge as Don Binkowski — while Sanborn was identified as "Probate Court Judge."

Binkowski made several attempts to change the incumbency designation "reserved" for incumbent judges, and each time he was struck down by Michigan's courts.

DON LOST OUT in his bid to unseat the incumbent judge, but he kept battling away. He didn't stop until the United States

'There can be no question that the designation gives the incumbent judicial candidate an advantage. It was calculated to do just that...'

Supreme Court "denied" a documented brief mapped by the judge's attorney — the articulate Robert J. Lord.

When Binkowski was kicking his heels to repeal the incumbency designation, other members of the judiciary in Macomb asked: "What's wrong with Don. If he wins, we all lose our incumbent designations on the ballot. Doesn't he realize he'd lose the district court designation should he run for district judge again..."

The Michigan Constitutional Convention set the course clear on the question of ballot incumbency designation by ruling such ballot designations had no place in Michigan.

But somehow, certain powerful lobby groups were able to regain the incumbency designation for incumbent judges seeking reelection.

THE STATE'S defense was based on pure quicksand. In essence, the state said: "There can be no question that the designation gives the incumbent judicial candidate an advantage. It was calculated to do just that..."

Adding insult to injury, the State Attorney General's office suggested that the objective of the ballot incumbency designation in question was a means "to maintain the independence of the state judiciary..."

At one of the several hearings, the state again suggested that Michigan "deemed that advantage necessary in order to assure independence of judicial thought and action, long tenure for judicial officers and the ability of the Michigan system in the election of judges to obtain able lawyers to serve as judicial officers."

NO OTHER public office candidate, partisan or non-partisan, has a free designation ride on the ballot in Michigan. When Gov. William Milliken's name appears on the ballot in his race for a second term, it must do so without incumbent designation privileges.

If the highest state office in Michigan cannot ride on some free ballot publicity, why should the right be granted to members of the judiciary.

I'd like to hear someone prove that a ballot incumbency designation makes for better judges. We have laws against the peddling of campaign literature within a certain distance of a voting precinct, but Michigan's incumbent judges have the right to carry their titles right into the voting booth. Is that practicing fair election policies?

WHEN VOTERS were asked in 1972 to elect two Justices to the Michigan Supreme Court, all nine candidates were listed by name. Though several of the justice candidates held judiciary posts at other court levels, their names appeared with no free designation plug. And that's the way it should be in all judiciary contests.

If we accept the incumbent judiciary designation as protecting the independence of the court, we must also swallow the argument that judiciary offices are above politics. When a candidate must seek votes on election day, he or she is a politician. Donning a judicial robe does not place that individual in an ivory tower.

Binkowski's crusade to bring about election reform is a good cause. If he's a rebel, we need more rebels on the bench — if Michigan is to correct the free political injustice it affords incumbent judges seeking reelection to their offices.

ATTORNEY LORD said it this way: "Candidate incumbency is a paramount campaigning fact and Michigan's incumbency ballot designation in question is priceless state campaigning, notwithstanding the further fact in reality that a candidate seeks election to a term of public office as an individual and not as an incumbent or non-incumbent of that office."

The U.S. Supreme Court denied the motion, but that's understandable — they sit on the bench with lifetime appointments.

As we see it

Property tax reform must be fair, honest

Everyone talks about property tax reform, yet we pay more and more. Some communities boast of holding the tax line, but the assessors go out and reassess—which means higher assessment taxes.

Last week State Rep. Kirby Holmes of Utica said he will spearhead legislation to scrap the state's present 50 percent true market valuation of property.

The Macomb County legislator blames the 50 percent assessment edict for all of the tax problems at the local level. He also stresses that a lion share of local taxes go to support local public school districts.

Depending what side of the fence you find yourself, it's tough at times to find which governmental unit to blame for the acceleration of property taxes.

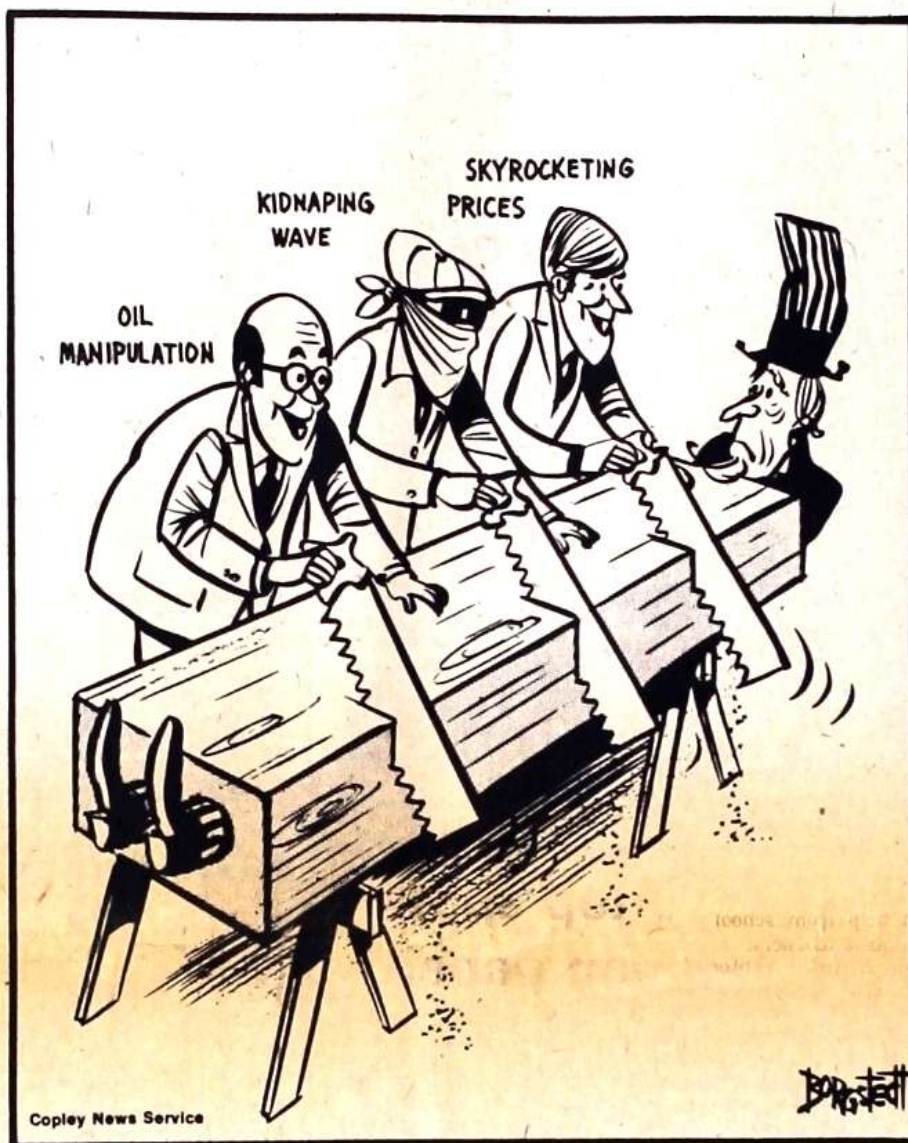

Hopefully, the plan being pursued by the Michigan Municipal League will develop into the kind of property reform we can live with. Local units of governments depend on property assessment for the major influx of tax dollars to their operating budgets. When local citizens demand better services, someone has to pay for these services.

Mayor Walter Bezz of East Detroit, chairman of the state league, noted that in recent years the property tax has been subjected to criticism from the public and feels it is time for "corrective" legislation from state and federal sources.

At the same time, the League states that municipal officials no longer can afford to sit by and simply react to bills introduced as so-called "reform" measures by those who are disenchanted with property tax administration by the state.

And we agree with the League that the time has come to provide a "more equitable tax for our citizens."

'Let us know if we hit a nerve-!'

Voice of the people

Praises police

To the Editor: This is my first letter to a newspaper, so you may have to re-word it a little. I had an incident happen to me that was a bit frightening.

It was early in the morning when I heard someone pounding on my front door. The pounding was so loud even my dogs started barking. I immediately called the police. At this particular hour in the morning you never know about people. Within minutes the Sumpter police were at my house to question the individual. As it turned out, the man was lost and out of gas.

My reason for writing is to praise the quick work of our police. Though the man had no intent of harm, you couldn't blame me for calling the police. The Sumpter police were so courteous, I just had to write to publicly express my appreciation.

Teach adults

To the Editor: The story inviting readers to voice their complaints or to praise good deeds was excellent. This is the second time I've written a letter to the editor, and I appreciate the opportunity to voice my opinion. I took journalism as a minor in college.

By occupation I am a teacher, and I live in a Romulus apartment complex on Wayne Road. When I drive to work each morning my driving route takes me past Romulus city hall. It's a beautiful city hall for a town this size. Several times I attended council meetings just to see who the officials are and what they look like.

In the past several weeks you printed stories about missing items at city hall. From what I read, I agree with the city clerk. Unless I read wrong, it appeared someone was trying to smear the city clerk; but they failed.

Thanks for printing the truth. I teach my students to be truthful. Too bad we can't teach adults the same.

Russia revisited

Soviet 'police state' boasts safe streets

(Last of four-part series)

MOSCOW — Snapshots of Soviet Life:

Politically, the Soviet Union describes itself as "a dictatorship of the proletariat," but surprisingly elitist attitudes maintain a stronger hold in the Russian educational system than they do in the United States.

All education in the Soviet Union is paid for by the state. Any child in the country, regardless of background, can go all the way until he obtains a doctorate degree from one of the country's well known universities with one proviso. He or she has to be able to cut the mustard.

EDUCATION IS REGARDED as a serious business. There is no tendency to make grammar school education a "fun situation" as is done in some American communities.

The Russians have no truck with theories spouted by some extremely liberal American educators who attack the validity of IQ tests and suggest probably all students should be given college degrees whether they do the academic work or not.

You can walk at any hour without the feeling of fear

The Russians attempt to measure exactly the capabilities of their children. A really bright student is expected to go to a university. Indeed, it would be awkward for him to avoid doing so. Slower students are channeled into institutions of less prestige where they learn crafts and trades.

THE SOVIET UNION has to be classed as a post revolutionary country. More than 83 per cent of the country's population was born after the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917.

Visiting American actors, dancers and singers usually have a ball in the Soviet Union, as might be expected.

Nowhere is the difference in priorities between the United States and the Soviet Union more marked than in the field of the performing arts. The theater, opera and ballet receive some outside money in the United States, and the tendency in recent years has been for the federal government to increase its stake in these activities. On the whole, though, performances of this sort are part of the private enterprise sector. They sink or swim on the basis of whether they do well at the box office.

IN RUSSIA THE STATE supports theatrical activities and encourages citizens, in the name of culture, to attend. The actual productions in Soviet theaters have large casts and elaborate sets, a sign that plenty of money is available for the show.

On one recent night in Moscow there were 37 performances listed in the newspapers, both amateur and professional, including the whole range of theatrical presentations and concerts.

In Leningrad, and presumably in other cities as well, the government, keeps alive old music halls which are used by amateur and professional performers from various Soviet ethnic groups. I saw a group of gypsies give an exceptionally spirited performance.

IT IS PROBABLY just as well that the average Russian girl has no clear idea how much her counterpart in the West pays for clothing.

Pantyhose which retail for between 77 and 90 cents in Washington, cost the equivalent of $11 in Leningrad.

Due to a tightly organized police system, which apparently can pinpoint where just about everyone is any time of the day or night, you can walk the streets of Moscow or Leningrad at any hour without the feeling of fear which sometimes creeps over you in Washington or Detroit.

Is market assessing a 'stupid law?'

Claims school districts cash in on unfair taxation

State Rep. Kirby Holmes (R-Shelby Township) in response to citizens' complaints in his district concerning ever-increasing rise in property taxes, has drafted legislation repealing that part of the general property tax act that requires local assessors to assess real property at 50 percent of market value.

"I have literally been flooded with phone calls, letters, telegrams, you name it. I've attended many meetings and talked with hundreds of irate taxpayers concerning this issue.

"I WAS A TOWNSHIP supervisor and lost that job because of this stupid law. The people took their frustration out on the closest person they could — me. Now, I'm in Lansing and in a position to do something, and I intend to do just that. I'll try and get rid of the law that is responsible for the entire mess."

Holmes indicated that he sees problems in getting his legislation to pass as the Legislature, he claims, is controlled by Detroit politicians whose constituents don't know a sixty foot lot from a sixty acre farm, and are for the most part renters.

"The don't pay their taxes directly to the tax collector," Holmes claims, and "therefore don't appreciate our problem. They never complain to their local assessors or state representatives about high taxes."

"IT'S VERY DIFFICULT sometimes to get a Detroit state representative to listen to us country and suburban legislators because they don't share with us our problems of high residential property taxes."

"If the taxpayer is to get any relief," Holmes stated, "it must come from Lansing and the only way Lansing politicians are going to initiate legislation to aid the taxpayer is if that same taxpayer makes himself heard. I mean a letter-writing campaign that will end all letter-writing campaigns," Holmes commented, "and I don't mean from just the people in my district. I mean all across the State. It's time that the taxpayer in the State of Michigan let Lansing know how they feel about this particular law that is responsible for doubling and tripling our taxes in eight short years."

Holmes states he will ask every legislator in the House to co-sponsor his bill. "At least this way people that want to write letters will know what legislators they don't have to contact. Anybody that won't co-sponsor my bill will be eligible to receive letters from taxpayers that want tax relief in Lansing."

WHEN ASKED HIS motive in submitting legislation that he admits will have rough sledding in Lansing because of school lobbyists, the Macomb County legislator claimed that this was the best way he knew of to draw attention to the issue and educate the taxpayer of yet another more direct way of seeking tax relief.

"Even should my bill fall on unsympathetic ears and not become law," Holmes indicated, "the taxpayer could still get some relief if local school districts would voluntarily decrease their rate of taxation comparable to the increase that they gain through reassessed property every year.

"School districts have enjoyed increased revenue each time property was reassessed, but the public is generally unaware of this. School systems traditionally receive 70 to 80 percent of a taxpayer's tax dollar and they could aid the taxpayer tremendously in these hard times if they would cut their millage rate."

"I realize I'll probably have every school administrator in Michigan down on my neck," Holmes stated, "but after eight years of experiencing tax increases that in many instances have doubled and tripled an individual's property tax without that individual having any say-so whatsoever in the matter, it's time, I believe, now to consider the plight of the taxpayer. As one of my colleagues in the Senate said, 'If schools want more money they should have to take a straightforward honest approach and go to the voter for a millage increase.'"

Public officials' forum

Bill seeks free education for MIA's children

By EDUARDE MAHALAK
State Representative
38th District

Bills recently approved by the House covered a number of different areas. They included one in which I was particularly interested. It provides that a child of a member of the armed forces listed as missing in action may attend a state-supported college or university without being required to pay tuition. The bill had been approved by the Senate.

Under present law, a child of a member of the armed forces who was killed in action or who died from some other cause during war time may attend a state-supported college or university without tuition. However, no such provision is made for children of members of the armed forces who are listed as missing in action.

I CONSIDER this unfair, since most of those listed as MIA actually are killed, but the deaths have not been verified. The family of an MIA faces the same financial hardship as the family of one who officials has been killed in action.

This is an unjust discrimination.

There are a large number of servicemen, a number of them from Michigan, who are carried as missing in action in Vietnam. Many of them had children who should have the same advantages of tuition-free higher education as the children of men killed in action in that and other wars.

The bill had the support of the Office of Veterans' Affairs, the Department of Management and Budget, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion, American Veterans of World War II, Korea and Vietnam, the Disabled American Veterans, the United Spanish War Veterans, and the Military Order of the Purple Heart.

Two mobile home park bills were passed in the House and sent to the Senate. One of them prohibits an entry fee for guests of mobile home park residents. While present law already provides for ingress and egress for invitees of a tenant of a mobile home park, this bill would clarify any uncertainty that such a guest would be required to pay an entry fee.

THERE HAD been some complaints that mobile park owners have been assessing a charge against tenants to allow a guest to enter the park.

The second bill prohibits the purchase of a mobile home from the park operator as a condition of tenancy.

Under this bill, the issuance or renewal of licenses to operate a mobile home park would be denied to any park requires, as a condition of residency, that a tenant purchase a mobile home from the park owner or operator or that he sell such home to the operator at the end of his tenancy.

There are a few mobile home parks in Michigan which require the use of a mobile home purchased from the park's own dealership. Some also require tenants leaving the park to sell their mobile homes only to the park ownership.

"IT HAS been argued that such control by park ownership has led to various abuses, including inflated prices for mobile homes where demand to live in the park is high and the supply of sites is low. It also can be pointed out that new local standards for maintenance or mobile home parks make private controls unnecessary.

Another bill passed by the House in a close vote would eliminate the requirements for tuberculosis tests and smallpox vaccinations for children in group residence, care, education and camping facilities.

The argument for the bill is that such tests are no longer necessary.

Tuberculosis dramatically and few new cases are discovered through the routine tuberculosis tests. Also, the incidence of smallpox is so low in the United States that there is almost no chance of being exposed to the disease.

Jaycees set plans for party

The Romulus Jaycees will sponsor a Millionaires Party on May 4 at the Romulus Progressive Hall.

Tickets are $9 per couple and can be obtained from any Jaycee.

Co-chairmen of the event are Marty Newsome and Terry Clark.

Proceeds from the party will benefit the Romulus area.

Jaycees gain spot in tourney

Nine proud Jaycees from Romulus returned to the city last week bearing a reward for their "labor of love."

The nine — The Romulus Jaycee basketball team — placed fourth in a state tournament sponsored for Jaycee chapters in Michigan.

Coach of the team was Leonard Folmar. The players included Gene Newsome, James Courtney, Willie Hester, Ron Dick, Richard Zavodsky, Glen Free, Charles Johnian and Bill Wheeler.

Davis has top spot on panel

The Romulus Housing Commission will be headed by Ernest U. Davis of 35235 Ecorse Rd., Romulus, for another year.

Davis recently was re-elected president of the commission during the election of officers.

Vice-president for the year is Horace Street of 34555 Beverly Rd.

Other members of the commission are Theresa Washington, Gail Blanchard and Donald C. Kouba.

The commission meets at 7:30 p.m. the second Monday of each month in the Housing Commission Offices, 5907 Chamberlain, Romulus.

All residents are invited to attend.

It's a fiesta!

Students discover Mexico

A six-year-old's move to volunteer her mother's culinary expertise mushroomed into several weeks of Mexican fun and pleasantries for a first grade class at Hayti Elementary School.

Nancy Winnard, a student in Eleanor Anderson's class, volunteered her mother to make tacos for her entire class as part of the youngsters' study of foreign cultures.

With the help of films, stories and pictures, Mrs. Anderson was able to present a bit more with a view of Mexican customs and culture for her young travelers.

To augment the study, the students mastered a few Spanish words then delved into Mexican art and music with help from school's art and music teachers.

The cultural exploration reached a higher plateau with instruction in Mexican dances and songs from Judy Thompson. Mark Anderson added a dash of Mexican necklaces and placemats to finish the adventure.

However, the classroom tour did not reach its peak until last week when, under the tutelage of Mrs. Winnard and Mrs. Anderson, the students cooked and created their own tacos.

Panchos and sombreros were the dress of the day.

Special guests at the Mexican fiesta were Amy Agnes and her first grade class; Michael Fodor, the school's principal; Betty Geisler, a paraprofessional at the school; and Diane Wilshire, a parent.

Scouts' sales pay off

The 1974 Girl Scout cookie sale has gone over its goal, with 6,000 members selling 270,330 boxes, according to Mrs. Robert McNaughton, cookie sale chairman.

Sale goal was 260,000 boxes, which topped last year's by more than seven per cent, or 252,000 boxes.

The successful drive assures the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council of being able to burn the mortgage of Camp Linden.

The camp was purchased in 1963 for $100,000. Mortgage payments of $10,000 have been paid annually, since the purchase. The camp is used by more than 5,000 Girl Scouts each year.

Receipts for this year's sale totaled $259,516. Of that figure, about $40,000 will go to the 300 junior, cadette and senior troops to finance projects. About $104,000 will be used by the Huron Valley Council to support Girl Scout camping through campsite improvements, camping scholarships and the purchase of camping equipment, as well as the over-all council programs.

Cookies ordered during the sale will be delivered beginning March 19.

Local trio attend wedding in Dundee

By Mrs. Joseph Spring
699-4021

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Boldt of Roland Street and granddaughter, Mary Thompson, of High Street were in Dundee last Saturday evening, March 9, to attend the wedding of the former's granddaughter, Iva Marie Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Wright of Dundee, to Mr. William Godfrey Jr., son of the senior William Godfreys of Blissfield, at St. Johns Lutheran Church in Dundee. They also attended the reception held in the church house immediately following the ceremony.

MISS LUCILE Webster of Dearborn was a week-end guest of Mrs. Velma Kulzer of Liberty Street.

MEMBERS OF the Wayne County Book Club, 15 in all, met for dinner at Town and Country Restaurant March 9 and then gathered at Edgemont School where they were entertained by Jonathan Hale, a teacher at the school. Mr. Hale showed colored slides and lectured on his trip down the Colorado River on a raft which he had taken last summer along with 29 other persons. Their many experiences were very interesting.

MR. AND MRS. Kenneth Mericle of Denton Road were dinner guests on Sunday of last week of Mrs. Mericle's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Berkey, of Toledo, Ohio. The latter's four-year old daughter, Jacqueline, is in a Toledo Hospital with a serious heart ailment.

MR. AND MRS. Lloyd Orr of Harmony Lane spent Saturday of last week at Ft. Wayne, Indiana, with their aunt, Mrs. John Hartzell, who has been very ill, but is now much improved.

WORD HAS been received here by relatives and friends of Mrs. Millard (Lila) Tapp (a one-time Belleville resident) that she has been quite ill in a Phoenix, Arizona hospital. It has been suggested that cards be sent in care of her son, Donald Tapp at 1742 West Butler, Phoenix 85201.

MR. AND MRS. Robert Kern of Dearborn Heights and Mr. and Mrs. William Trent of Belleville Road were last Saturday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hatch of Church Street.

MR. AND MRS. William Henry and Dennis Wilson of Caro were dinner guests last Wednesday of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wilson of Elwell Road.

MR. AND MRS. George Robson of Tyler Road were guests on Sunday of last week at a birthday party honoring Vicki Brady at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dugan, of Allen Park.

MRS. GERALD Woods of Northport was a guest last week-end of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Nichols, of Willis Road and of her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Woods, of Belleville Road.

MISS VAN BUHLER

Resident to receive RN degree

Gwen Van Buhler, a 1971 graduate of Belleville High School, will receive her degree as a registered nurse March 21 from Bronson Hospital School of Nursing and Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo. Ceremonies will be held at the First United Methodist Church there.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Van Buhler of 45021 Venetian, Belleville, Miss Van Buhler has completed a full three-year course in nursing. She will be employed at Bronson Hospital for the summer.

Evangelist is treated to a party

The evangelist, Mrs. Johnnie W. Kellogg, celebrated her 77th birthday at a recent party hosted by the members of the Church of God and Christ, 27087 Sumpter Rd., Sumpter Township.

Mrs. Kellogg has been active in the Sumpter Church and also has been associated with the Anderson Memorial Church in Detroit as a preacher and evangelist.

She was honored at a party at the church attended by Mrs. Alfreda Reyles, a friend from British Honduras, Mrs. Christine Pennison, and the Rev. Clarence Doores.

Dixon-Fischer wed

St. Paul's Church scene of wedding

St. Paul's Lutheran Church in New Boston was reserved February 23 for the six o'clock ceremony which united Jan Christine Fischer and Maynard Joseph Dixon in holy matrimony.

The Rev. Daniel H.F. Richert presided at the double ring rite with Rev. Patrick Jackson giving the wedding address.

Soloist, Terry Prish of Detroit, was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Daniel Richert. Selections included

"The Wedding Song," "We've Only Just Begun" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Vases of white chrysanthemums and potted palms graced the altar as Jan approached with her father, White tapers and white velvet bows and streamers marked the central pews for the 300 guests.

PARENTS OF the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Christian Fischer of 13145 S. Wayne Road, Romulus, and Mr. and Mrs. Maynard L.

Dixon of 9153 Jay Street, Whitmore Lake.

For her wedding day, the bride selected a white velvet gown fashioned in the empire mode, the full A-line skirt extending into a cathedral length train. Her full bishop sleeves and stand-up collar were trimmed in Cluney lace and pearls as was the Juliette cap which secured her two-tier veil and cathedral-length mantilla. Completing her bridal finery was a cascade bouquet of white roses, baby's breath and phalaenopsis orchids centered with a single red rose.

The bride's only sister, Jo-Carole Fischer, served as her maid of honor in a toe-touching gown designed with long-sleeved ivory bodice and emerald green velvet skirt. Her matching Juliette cap was edged with two tiers of green veiling and her colonial bouquet was comprised of yellow tea roses and baby's breath with streamers to match her dress.

Attendants in identical royal blue ensembles were Jo Ann Neely of Belleville, Arla of Whitmore Lake and Nadine Katanski of Ypsilanti.

BEST MAN was Jay Linn Sutton of Whitmore Lake. Groomsmen were Gerry Doede of Flat Rock, Kimber Spahr of Belleville and Richard Brooks of Whitmore Lake.

At the dinner-reception which followed at the P.N.A. Lodge in Belleville, Mrs. Fischer, the bride's mother, greeted guests in an ice blue floor-length gown with accessories in silver and crystal. Her wrist corsage was made of double cymbidium pink orchids with a bow to match her dress. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Dixon, chose to wear an emerald green knit formal gown with gold and jade accessories. Double cymbidium orchids in yellow were used to fashion her wrist corsage.

The five-tiered wedding cake served at the reception was made by the bride's mother. During the evening, several couples were honored when the band played the "Anniversary Waltz": Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Feller, the bride's grandparents, who were married 55 years; Mr. and Mrs. Casper Peters, family friends who were marking 54 years of marriage; and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Feller, cousins of the bride, who were observing their golden wedding anniversary.

Before taking up residence at 9150 Grove Drive, Whitmore Lake, the newlyweds honeymooned in Kentucky and Tennessee.

The bridegroom's parents played host at the rehearsal buffet dinner which was held at their home the Friday evening before the wedding.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS — Mrs. Dora Skiff (left) of 36 Perry Street, Romulus, marked her 91st birthday March 12. Helping to make the day particularly memorable was a visit from Romulus Mayor Pro-tem Beverly McAnally (right) who presented the nonagenarian with a corsage of carnations. A congratulatory birthday letter was also sent by Mayor Terry Troutt. Mrs. Skiff, who has been a Romulus resident for 54 years, is a member of the Golden Hour Club of Wayne.

Girl Scout Week brought to close by family dinner

Two area Girl Scout troops brought Girl Scout Week to a close by sharing a family dinner Saturday night in St. Anthony's Father Folta Building. Cadette Troop No. 448 and Senior Troop No. 710 were joined by about 120 members of their families.

Five-year pins went to Claudia Collins, Cecelia Lauth, Julie Little, Elizabeth Nehez, Brenda Rains and Linda Sorton.

Special guest at the program was State Representative Edward Mahalak who presented a state flag to the girls. Other highlights of the evening were several skits by the Scouts as well as a dance routine by Pam Paduan and Debbie Griffith.

'Bread and Milk' is Study Club's speakers' topic

The Belleville Women's Study Club met for its March 13 meeting at South Junior High School. Mrs. Jessica Van Sickle, chairman of the Home Life Committee, presented two guest speakers from Howell, Mrs. Andrew Jackson and Mrs. Joseph Miesle.

She and her husband were chosen "Outstanding Young Cooperators" by McDonald Dairy in 1969 and Mr. Miesle was a participant in the Kellogg Young Farmers Study Group.

Following the business meeting and program, refreshments were served by Mrs. Verlie Johnson, Mrs. Margaret Hanna, Mrs. Rufus Bird, and Mrs. Floyd Griffith. A St. Patrick's Day theme was used for the table appointments.

Meat protein has it all

The protein in meat is complete, high quality protein, containing all the essential amino acids needed for growth, maintenance and repair of body tissue. Plant and vegetable proteins do not contain all essential amino acids, so they are incomplete and of lower biological quality. In addition to complete protein, meat also provides B-vitamins, iron, other minerals, trace elements and micronutrients not readily available from other sources.

Keep appliances repaired to cut energy budget

Keep your home appliances in repair and operate them efficiently to reduce your home energy budget, says Jim Boyd, extension housing specialist at Michigan State University.

Check your oven door gaskets to be sure they fit tightly so your range oven cannot leak heat, Dr. Boyd advises. Also avoid taking too many quick peeks to check on cooking food.

"An average peek into the oven can cause a temperature drop of 50 degrees," the specialist says. "So leave the door closed as much as possible."

Avoid opening the refrigerator door more than necessary also, Dr. Boyd adds, and make sure the door gaskets fit snugly. To check the gaskets, close the door on a dollar bill and tug on the bill.

If it slips out easily, the gasket should be replaced.

HAVE YOU checked the pilot light on your gas range, furnace or water heater? It should burn steady and blue. If it turns orange or flutters, call a service man to adjust it.

Regular cleaning of appliances can increase their efficiency, Dr. Boyd points out. The cooling coils on the back of the refrigerator and the lint filter in the clothes dryer should be kept clear of dust and lint. Cleaning the back of the refrigerator will be easier if it is set away from the wall, he notes.

To cut down on the amount of energy your appliances use, operate them as efficiently as you can. Dry clothes no dryer than they have to be. Turn off your electric oven a few minutes before the roast is supposed to come out - the heat held in the oven will finish the cooking. Don't preheat the oven unless it's absolutely necessary. Use a timer to remind you to turn appliances off at the proper time.

"When using portable appliances, keep them out of drafts," Dr. Boyd advises. "Drafts lower the appliances' operating efficiency so that they use more energy to do the job."

Mark is first child for Hardens

Mark and Marsha Harden of Cunningham, Tennessee (formerly of Belleville) are announcing the birth of their first child, a son, January 24 at Fort Campbell Army Hospital, Kentucky. The 7 lb., 7 oz. heir was named Mark Douglas II. His mother is the former Marsha Crow.

Mark is the first grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crow of Hannan Road, Romulus, and the fourth for Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Harden of Sheldon Road, Belleville.

The baby's great-grandparents include Mrs. Wilbert Harden of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Burton of Largo, Florida; and Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Johnson and Mrs. Lillian Crow, all of Decatur, Alabama.

Energy saving tips

Have you ever wondered how your electric bill is calculated? It's figured in kilowatt-hours, explain housing specialists at Michigan State University. A 100-watt light bulb burned for 10 hours will register on your meter as 1,000 watt-hours or one kilowatt-hour.

The only ways you can save on your electric bill are either to reduce the wattage or reduce the time you use electrical appliances. In controlling the time you use the appliances you may also find you use them more efficiently.

Proper insulation can cut your electric costs, say extension housing specialists at Michigan State University. Most houses can have insulation put in very reasonably. As a rule of thumb, you should have six inches of insulation in the attic, three inches of insulation in unheated crawl spaces and three inches in side walls.

YOUR LOCAL power supplier or a reputable contractor can advise you on your specific insulation needs.

Windows, cracks and open chimneys may be the villains behind your heat loss.

Michigan State University extension housing specialists suggest using either double-glazed windows or storm windows to keep cold air out. Clear plastic tacked across your windows can temporarily serve the same purpose.

Seal window and door cracks with weather stripping and caulking to keep the cold out and heat costs down.

When fireplaces aren't in use, keep dampers closed or block off the entire fireplace. Otherwise you might find you're heating more than just your home. Do not close them, however, until you are absolutely sure there are no red coals still there.

Getting married? Tell us about it

Want to share that 'special day' with those who are unable to be present, in person, for your wedding ceremony? We'll write the details of your wedding in story form for you — and at no charge — if you'll simply follow a few guidelines.

The Belleville Enterprise and Romulus Roman offer bridal questionnaires for you to fill out as well as engagement forms for announcing the 'start of it all.'

Forms may be picked up at our office, 405 Main Street, (we're in the old Township Hall now) anytime during the week or will be mailed out if a telephone request is made. Call the Women's Editor at 697-9191.

Bidding closes on car

Bid proposals, received by the township administration on the purchase of a new police patrol car, an auto and three-quarter-ton truck for the township's water department have been referred to police and water department officials for study by the Van Buren Board of Trustees.

The bids for the police car were submitted by Sesi Lincoln Mercury of Ypsilanti and Atchinson Ford Sales of Belleville. The bids ranged from $4,091.39 to $4,198.

The bids for the auto and truck for the water department were submitted by Jack Henderson Dodge Inc., Heininger Chevrolet Inc., and Atchinson Ford Sales, all of Belleville.

Their proposals ranged from $2,966.19 to $3,258.65 on the truck purchase and from $2,610 to $2,756.61 on the auto.

The vehicles will replace those severely damaged when vandals broke into the township's garage near the township hall recently.

Church presents new film

"Isn't It Good to Know," a new film that involves the viewer in the experiences of its subject, will be shown at 7 p.m. Sunday at the Calvary Baptist Church, 11338 Ozga Rd., Romulus.

The film, the latest from World Wide Pictures, was edited and directed by J. Michael Hooser, a 26-year-old film maker who uses provocative techniques in his first major film.

Using a varying number of images on the same screen, Hooser creates a multi-media effect which draws the viewer into the picture. Included in the film are scenes from the Dino DeLaurentis production of "Barabbas," courtesy of Columbia Pictures.

Rev. Lonnie England, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, has made arrangements for the special showing of "Isn't It Good to Know." The film is free to all area residents.

Seminar to study teen-ager

High school youths from the area have been invited to take part in a seminar on "Youth, Health and Social Systems" at Children's Hospital in Detroit on Friday and Saturday.

The workshop, headed by John G. Roundtree II of Romulus and Dr. Natalia Tenner of Detroit, will cover such topics as the wants and needs of adolescents in the field of health care until the year 2000.

Information obtained from the seminar will be fed to the federal government's Department of Health, Education and Welfare in an effort to improve health care for adolescent-aged youths.

The conference is funded by a grant from the Johnson and Johnson Foundation.

Information on the conference can be obtained by contacting Roundtree at Mumford High School, 341-2784.

Youngster spells way to victory

The correct spelling of the word "accommodation" won the West Willow Elementary School spelling bee championship for Stanley Hunley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Hunley of 2060 Chevrolet, Ypsilanti.

Hunley is a member of the fifth grade at the school which is in the Van Buren Public School District.

The runner-up was Rhonda Battle, the daughter of Willie Battle of 1199 Nash Ave., Ypsilanti. She also is a sixth grade student.

Stanley will participate in the Washtenaw County District Spelling Bee on April 3 at the Milan Elementary School in Milan.

Old, moving

Draft enrolls by mail

Young men, age 18, now can register by mail for the draft, if they find it difficult to visit a Selective Service office or registrar.

The new mail registration forms were issued last week to all Michigan Selective Service offices, according to a spokesman for the state draft headquarters.

Mail registration forms will be available from colorful poster displays located in selected public offices, such as county clerks, post offices, armories and schools.

Individuals also may request a mail registration form by writing to any Selective Service office. Instructions are included with the form. It can be completed at home, then mailed. It is pre-addressed and needs no postage.

The local board, having jurisdiction, will mail a status card to the registrant about two weeks after receiving his completed form.

Federal law still requires the registration of 18-year-olds, even though inductions have stopped. With the closing of many draft offices due to budget restrictions, the Selective Service has initiated the mail registration program to enable young men to register with little difficulty.

Food is seminar subject

More than 425 school food service employees from Washtenaw and Wayne counties attended the recent dinner and food demonstrations held in the Belleville High School cafeteria.

The one-day event was held under the joint sponsorship of the Van Buren School Food Service Association and the Nor-West School Food Service Association.

David L. Baronian, food supervisor for the Van Buren Public School District, said the attendance was the largest in the history of the two food service associations.

Following demonstrations on baking products and convenience foods, Baronian was named vice-president-elect of the Nor-West School Food Service Association.

Van Buren to alter town hall

Bid proposals have been requested for the alteration and remodeling of the present Van Buren Township board meeting room into general offices.

The changeover is part of construction of an addition to the township hall, which will house the new board room.

Contractors interested in the project can pickup blueprints and specifications at the township hall, 46425 Tyler Rd., Van Buren Township.

The construction of the new 40-by-75-foot addition to the township hall, which will serve as the new township board room, is expected to be completed by the end of March, according to Van Buren Township Clerk Patricia Cullin.

The new $129,500 addition to the township's administrative offices, which will be attached to the main building by a covered hallway, will be available to group meetings when not in use for township business.

The one-story facility will provide 3,000 square feet of additional space for township operations.

Cub pack to collect old papers

Cub Scout Pack 1071, sponsored by the First United Methodist Church in Belleville, will hold its spring paper drive from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday.

Old papers can be dropped off at 186 Potter St. or for pickup service call 697-8183, 697-4363 and 697-8771.

Schools to hire more drivers

The Van Buren Public School District is seeking substitute bus drivers for transporting special education students.

For further information, interested persons are asked to call the district's special services division at 697-4169.

From state, national capitals

Romulus scouts collect flags

The presentation of the state flag and the American flag, both of which have flown over their respective capitals, was the highlight of the recent Blue and Gold Banquet of Cub Scout Pack 739 of the Merriman Elementary School in Romulus.

The Michigan flag was presented to the group by State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland). Jim Beckley, a representative of Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District), presented the national flag.

On hand for the banquet along with the senator and Beckley were Mrs. Beverly McAnnally of the Romulus City Council; Eugene Barr, the school's principal; Lynn Slaughter, president of the Merriman PTA; Joe Kerridge, district executive of Huron District scouting council; and Paul Govenski, a school custodian.

DURING the dinner scout members were presented with their awards and badges by Cubmaster John Percy.

Receiving bobcat badges were Christopher Pruet, Darren Quinlan, Michael McVay, Keith McDiarmid, Dwayne Copper, Joe Cotton and Marty Burton.

Wolf badges were given to Jeff Whitney, Edward Bociung and Jerry Szveda, who also received one gold and three silver arrows and a recruiting badge.

Keith Watts received his bear badge and one gold and silver arrow. Eric Lindberg was presented with a silver arrow, and Edward Bociung received a gold arrow.

RECEIVING dinner awards were John Vargas, Gregg Carter, and Frank Piopelle. Assistant dinner cords went to Douglas Fraser, Mike Panek and Matt Percy.

Weberos awards were given to Brian Golightly for citizen, Chuck Gribbs for scholar, Ken Crater for aquanaut and artist, and John Percy, Mike Vargas and Roy Jarvis for athlete.

Pack leaders receiving service pins were Alice Petricko, Pat Hamm, Jan Carter, James Holbrook, Pat Coatsworth, Ron Jarvis, Diane Jarvis and Marie Golightly for one year.

A two year service pin went to John Percy with Paulette Stockman receiving a four year pin.

Three new committee members were welcomed at the banquet. They are Jerry Szveda, public relations; Edward Bociung, assistant cubmaster; and Don Whitney, in charge of registrations.

Show's profits help 'Number'

A championship wrestling show held for the benefit of "The Number," Belleville's crisis-counseling center, netted a profit of some $400.

The show, sponsored by the crisis-counseling center, was held in the boys' gymnasium at the Belleville High School, 501 W. Columbia Ave.

Performers at the show, the first such one for "The Number," were wrestlers seen on "Championship Wrestling" on TV-Channel 9. Among the wrestlers performing at the show were Cowboy Parker, Little Tom and Mighty Adams of the Midgets Team, and the Fabulous Kangeroos.

The announcer at the show was Rev. David Lee, chairman of the board of directors of the center.

The shows proceeds will be used to expand the operations of the center.

Other fund-raising events under consideration include a five-mile bike race within the City of Belleville and a rock concert.

An arts and crafts fair is scheduled for May 19 at Belleville High School.

Lighting committee begins donation campaign

Businessmen in Romulus will be asked to participate in the Romulus Sports Fund Development Committee's $100,000 operation: "Let's Light the Way."

Letters, requesting donations to the sports fund to set up lighting at the softball field at Elmer Johnson Park and the Romulus High School football field, are being sent to all Romulus businessmen.

Mel Morgan is chairman of the sports fund committee with Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt and Mayor Pro Tem Beverly McNally also serving on the committee.

"WE BELIEVE that Romulus is a vigorous, young city with active young men and women who will utilize these facilities to the utmost," the letter said. "We also believe that a spirited sports program encourages strong community identification and loyalty."

"As a businessman, perhaps you share our opinion that home town pride is a positive and constructive factor necessary to aggressive and community growth."

"Won't you become a supporter and help us on our way to lighted fields by summer?"

Representatives of the committee will call on each of the businessmen who receive the letter, requesting donations.

BUSINESSES donating $1,000 or more to the fund raiser become a founder and will have the first right to reserve a field for a sporting event.

In addition, the $1,000 donor will receive an advertisement in a commemorative brochure.

Businesses donating $100 or more qualify as a prime sponsor, entitling them to a free advertisement in the brochure.

A donation of $50 or more makes the business a contributor and entitles it to enrollment on a donors' list, included in a program to be distributed at the initial lighting of the fields.

NEW INDUCTEES — The Belleville High School Auditorium last week was filled with the friends and relatives of 65 of the school's academicians to witness their induction ceremonies as members of National Honor Society. The students were selected to join the nationwide scholastic organization based on their scholarship, leadership, citizenship and service. The musical interlude during the ceremonies was presented by the Belleville Jazz Band. —Enterprise-Roman photo.

Religious goal Pastor surveys identity quest

As the Lenten season progresses, the Rev. J.E. Arthur, pastor of Belleville First United Methodist Church, surveys man's perpetual quest for an answer to "Who I am?" in a short Sermon. He covers the issue from its ancient origins to the present time.

Someone has said that the preacher's real business is to remind men and women who they are. The Lenten season is a good time for all of us to ponder the question of "who are we?"

People forget that, as did the prodigal son. He forgot who he was and wandered into wastelands and got lost in a far country of doubt, confusion and disillusionment.

It is a terrible thing to forget who you are. There are times when it seems a whole generation, a nation and even the Church falls into a state of moral amnesia and forgets what it means to be human.

A CURRENT story has it that a half-demented man was seen rushing wildly from office to office in a government building in Washington. He was flinging open the doors of closets and steel files hunting in waste baskets, crawling under tables, peering under rugs.

When finally seized by a detective and questioned about the object of his frantic search, he said, "I am looking for me. I am trying to find myself."

A witty reporter, commenting on the story and the tensions in the nation's capital, said that if he had to go crazy, he would want it to happen in Washington, for there no one would know the difference. It may be the man wasn't crazy. Perhaps that is what everyone is really looking for in the city of confusion. Can anyone tell us who we are?

Suddenly the question becomes intensely important. Who are we? What is man? The old question that haunted the mind of the psalmist as he stood wondering under the stars is pressing today with a terrible instance.

BACK OF all the tragedies of the last decade including Vietnam, My Lai, Kent State, Attica, Pentagon secrecy, deception and lies of high government officials is the basic, elemental question, "What is man?" Is he a person or a pawn, savage or son, someone who counts or merely something to be counted and used? We can't escape that any more. We must know who we are as a matter of survival.

And you and I can put it down: If there is to be dignity in the world, we must turn to God and the teachings of the Bible, hold it against all enemies without and within ourselves, contend for it on all the roads where people still forget who they are and get lost in far countries of doubt, confusion and disillusionment. Our highest loyalty belongs to God and his kingdom of righteousness, justice and mercy.

Leisure is word of day

By SUE HAPP
Enterprise-Roman Writer

Leisure is the word of the day for local entertainment this week with another chance offered to parents to escape the noise and confusion of the children with a quick trip to the movie matinee.

The Romulus Jaycees are continuing their movie festival for the younger set with animal features and a cartoon parade as part of this weekend's line-up.

The kiddies will delight to "A Tiger Walks" and "Beaver Valley" along with the perennial cartoon favorites.

TICKETS for the movies are available through local schools. The shows are being run at 1 p.m. at the Romulus High School Auditorium.

For feminine exercise buffs, the Romulus Adult Education program has begun its belly dancing classes.

The eight-week courses are available for beginners and intermediates on Thursdays as a good preparation for weekend activities.

Intermediate classes run from 7 to 8 p.m. with beginners set for 8 to 9 p.m.

THE DANCE course is a great way to slim down while re-affirming those feminine attributes. The courses cost $20 each with optional supplies costing an additional $6 to $8.

For information and enrollment contact the adult education program at 941-1600, ext. 37.

The second annual presidential ball of the Belleville Kiwanis Club will dance its way through Saturday night at St. Anthony's Parish Hall, 373 W. Columbia Ave., Belleville.

Enjoy the fun and dance the night away with other local residents to help greet the new state of officers for the community service club.

AN OPEN education fair, conducted by two open education classes, will last from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday at Eastern Michigan University.

Set up by students in the courses, visitors are invited to take part in the activities at the various displays.

Class members will share their projects with parents, teachers and other local residents as part of the day's program.

Poet Nikki Giovanni and novelist Sam Greenlee are taking part in a Black Solidarity Days program at the EMU campus now through Friday.

THE LINEUP for the week's program include

Greenlee's discussion of black militancy at 8 o'clock tonight and an Ebony Affair-African Ball tomorrow in the guild hall of McKenny Union. The dinner-dance will be at 7 p.m. Tickets for the dance can be obtained from the Office of Minority Affairs or at the door for $5.50.

You may walk this summer Another shortage due...this time it's bicycles

By DALE GOWING
Of The Enterprise-Roman Staff

Although the nationwide bicycling craze is expected to reach unprecedented sales proportions this year, there looms the possibility that in 1974 that Americans will encounter the biggest difficulties in buying the two-wheeled vehicles. The advice to the consumer from the Bicycle Institute of America, therefore, is to buy a bike as soon as possible to avoid an impending shortage of bicycle parts which will deal a crippling blow to sales this summer. And the longer the buyer waits, the less chance he will have to get what he really wants. The warning and consumer advice is echoed by bike retailers everywhere, including the owner of one of Western Wayne County's biggest-selling dealerships.

DAVID SINNOTT, proprietor of Dave's Bike Shop on Michigan Ave. in Wayne, claims his sales are up 130 over the same time period last year - beginning Jan. 1. "I've sold 150 bikes since the first of the year and last year I sold only about 20 in that time," he said.

According to Institute figures, 1973 sales of 14 million bikes exceeded automobile sales by a million, and the bike sales figure is expected to rise to 16 million this year-meaning America will have a record 100 million bicyclists on the streets and roads by the middle of the year.

But a shortage of the fuel-less vehicles appears certain, triggered by the U.S.

manufacturers' growing difficulties in obtaining foreign-made parts from Europe.

Whether current rapid sales are due to the public's awareness of the parts shortages of its spring-fever, nobody knows. Sinnott believes the energy crisis did it.

"I THINK THE sales rush partly is due to the energy crisis, but the recreation factor still is the biggest reason people buy bikes," he said. "Pretty soon the transportation factor may be the biggest, though, with gas getting scarce."

SINNOTT, 40, has operated the bike shop for four years since he left a 13-year partnership in another bike dealership in Garden City. And this is his best sales year by far.

His sales equally are split between adult and children's bikes, he said. The most sought-after item is the three-speed model. The 10-speed bikes continue to be a popular model among the younger set, however.

"Every child who walks through my door wants a 10-speed," Sinnott said. "It's a prestige symbol among them. On the other hand, adults are usually looking for comfort-something they don't have to break their back to ride on."

TEN-SPEED BIKES are racing-style vehicles with curved-under handlebars and about a 40-degree angle, generally long, narrow seats, designed to lessen wind The rider leans forward at resistance.

KEEPING UP WITH DEMAND — David Sinnott, the owner of Dave's Bike Shop in Wayne, assembles another bicycle in his Michigan Avenue shop in an effort to keep up with demand in sales. Sinnott's sales so far this year are more than seven times as high as during the same period in 1973. — Enterprise-Roman photo.

Township to raise level of lake for the summer

The raising of the water level at Belleville to its annual and permanent summer level of 651.50 feet above sea level will be conducted on April 15.

The raising and the lowering of lake levels, which is a holding pond for the Huron River, is controlled by the dam at the east end of the lake at French Landing.

The lake level annually is lowered to its winter level of 646 feet, or slightly more than four feet, to reduce ice conditions along the lake's shore where many residents have their homes.

The unseasonably warm weather of the last several days and the subsequent winter thaw along with recent heavy rains has raised the lake to nearly its level. As of Monday, the lake stood at 650 feet above sea level.

The responsibility of maintaining proper lake levels now rests with the township. In September, the ownership of the six-mile long lake and its 101-acre Edison Pointe Park was transferred to the township by the Detroit Edison Co.

Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer said the lake level will be closely watched from now until April 15 when the township will bring the lake up to summer level.

Ben R. Robertson, director of the township's Community Development Committee, said homeowners along the lake should make preparations to clean up the lake shore in front of their residences of wood and other debris.

He added that the clean-up program would help prevent boat damage and possible damage to the dam.

Banquet honors cub pack

The February meeting of Cub Scout Pack 754 of the Quirk Road Elementary School in Belleville was highlighted by the potluck blue and gold dinner and the announcement of the pack's new cubmaster, Doug Cullin.

The pack's meeting was held at the North Junior High School in Belleville. Many special guests were in attendance.

The evening's program and the "Father and Son" Pinewood Derby was conducted by Cubmaster Cullin and his assistant, Ron Dudash.

Awards and the Indian dances of the order of the arrow also were features of the meeting. Den three performed the skit with den seven being presented with the award's trophy.

Cullin has served more than 17 years in scouting, three of them was with pack 754.

Cancer Foundation needs people to drive patients

Volunteer drivers to take suburban cancer patients to downtown Detroit cancer treatment centers and back again are needed desperately according to a spokesman from the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Cancer patients without their own transportation are provided under a volunteer driver program through the foundation, Mrs. Ruth Stedman, a volunteer driver said.

More than 100 trips per month are being made presently by the volunteer drivers, but with rising gas costs, more drivers are needed to relieve the burden on already-busy volunteers.

In Western Wayne County, the Michigan Cancer fund volunteers take the patient from his or her home to the medical center in Detroit and wait for them to finish or come back when they are through. Mrs. Stedman said. All driving is done during daytime hours on weekdays.

Mrs. Stedman, from Dearborn Heights, has been driving for five years, and she said she continues to do it because she enjoys the patients.

Licensed drivers with a car will receive an income tax deduction of six cents per mile. Volunteers can enlist by calling the cancer foundation office at 565-1440 or coming to the office at 11112 Telegraph Rd., Dearborn.

SEMTA gains funds for mass transit study

A proposed people mover project at Detroit Metropolitan Airport is one of three transit plans to receive preliminary study funding from the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA).

The airport grant totals

$180,000 for the development and completion of preliminary engineering studies on the project.

Grants also were awarded to the Medical Center and the central business district in downtown Detroit for $200,000 and $220,000, respectively.

The SEMTA funding is through the "NEW TRAN" competitive design program of the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation.

The studies will cover cost estimates, route locations, ridership estimates, station designs and preliminary design of all other needed support facilities.

They are to be completed within six months of the execution of the agreements between the state highway commission, SEMTA and the participating agencies.

LEARN TO CANOE — The Red Cross will offer instruction in basic and instructor canoeing throughout April at the canoe shelter on Belle Isle in Detroit. Demonstrating the correct way to lower a canoe into the water are (from left) Red Cross safety programs director George Wibby and program field representative Jerry Hummel. Both courses are free to the public.

Red Cross has class on canoeing instruction

Western Wayne County residents are invited to join other metropolitan Detroit residents in the Red Cross' annual spring canoeing courses, scheduled to begin April 6.

Participants will need bathing suits, an extra set of clothing and clean tennis shoes for the overboard work at Patton Pool. Individuals should bring their lunch for all the sessions at Belle Isle. For further information call the Red Cross at 833-4440.

Police officers receive training course degrees

The Red Cross Basic Canoeing and Instructor Canoeing courses, held in cooperation with the Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation, are free of charge.

The first session will meet from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., April 6, at Patton Pool, 2301 Woodmere, Detroit. Following registration, swimming and canoeing skills will be reviewed.

Instructional work in canoes will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., each Saturday at the Belle Isle Canoe Shelter. In addition to formal instruction, demonstrations of safety techniques will be conducted.

"Because many people are inexperienced and untaught when it comes to handling small craft, an increasing effort is being made by Red Cross to involve more people in canoe classes," said George Wibby, director of the Red Cross safety programs.

Persons are eligible for the Basic Canoe course, if they are at least 14 years old. To be eligible for the Instructor Canoe course, persons must be a minimum of 17 years old and hold a certificate in Basic Canoeing.

Police officers from five area departments officially graduated from the Wayne County Sheriff's Department Police Academy, finishing the required seven weeks of intensive training that made them eligible to be police officers.

The 37 officers, including three policewomen, completed studies in law, basic police science, narcotics investigation, basic investigation and physical training.

From the Inkster Police Department, Stephen J. Borish, Daniel J. Dubiel, Michael T. Simmons, Timothy Kane and Ernest A. Wallace finished the training.

Marilyn Jakubiec from the Belleville city police department graduated from the course.

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department, the graduates are: Dennis R. Addison, Nadine Allman, James Anderson, Jerry S. Barker, Timothy C. Carnaghi, Larry K. Cornish, M.A. Clepper, Lawrence M. Davis, Hollis C. Denham, Frederick G. Evans, Timothy Glaab, Vincent

With singing programs Musical choruses are kept busy

It's been a busy year for the vocal music clubs at Belleville's North Junior High School. The groups have remained active during the 1973-74 school year not only with program presentations at other schools in the Van Buren Public School System, but to community groups.

rehearses after school once a week.

Now in their fourth year of existence, the Choraliers have presented programs for the Belleville Women's Club, the Belleville Kiwanis Club and the Van Buren Convalescent Center.

The Troubadours, formed in 1972 in the merging of former Choraliers and the Barbershop Quartet, have performed at the Ypsilanti Halfway House and have given many small gifts to the patients. Other programs were presented at St. Ursula's Catholic Church and Wayne County General Hospital.

The choirs also have presented joint programs at the Belleville High School Auditorium and at both the Quirk and Denton Road Elementary Schools.

Future concerts include the Haggerty Road and the West Willow Elementary Schools.

Their songs include a variety of musical styles, gospel, patriotic, pop and rock.

Church groups or clubs wishing to request a musical program by the choirs are asked to contact Mrs. Kathleen Thueme at the school at 697-9171.

South hosts book fair

The second annual five-day book fair, recently held at the North Junior High School in Belleville under the sponsorship of the English department, has been termed a "success".

The book fair offered students attending English classes to purchase paperback books supplied by the Ludington News of Detroit at 10 per cent off their list price.

Students attended the event with their English classes and purchased books as well as placed orders for a popular book.

Complaints keep dog pound full

The number of dog complaints investigated by the Van Buren Township dog pound in February totaled 137, according to Dog Warden John Price.

Tickets, charging violation of the township's dog ordinance, were issued in 51 cases and warrants were issued in 12 other complaints.

There were 58 dogs impounded during February, Price said.

For strapped families

Seeks income tax relief

By TOM OCHILTREE
Enterprise-Roman
Washington Bureau Chief

Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., has introduced legislation to give a measure of income tax relief to low and middle income families during this period of inflationary pressures.

Under her bill taxpayers would be given the option of taking a $200 credit for themselves and each dependent instead of the existing $750 personal exemption.

In a speech on the floor of the House of Representatives, Mrs. Griffiths estimated the average family would pay about $200 less in income taxes each year.

HER FORMULA, she insisted, would help low and middle income families more than raising the amount of the personal exemption — "A device which already benefits most those who need the tax savings least."

Claiming that her bill also would stimulate the nation's economy, Mrs. Griffiths said: "Some of the hardest working American families were actually worse off economically in 1973 than in 1972, despite small wage gains. This is because they paid about 20 per cent more for food, 19 per cent more for gasoline, plus higher social security and income taxes."

"Individually, these families need help. Collectively, we need to keep their consumer demand and purchasing power strong to ward off recession and even higher unemployment."

Residents visit local hospitals

State eyes kidney cost plan

By BOB BERG
Enterprise-Roman
Lansing Bureau Chief

One of the most financially devastating illnesses which can afflict a person is kidney failure.

Artificial kidneys have been created which can maintain the life of a person whose kidney has failed. But it costs an average of $6,770 per year to operate one of these in the home.

The cost skyrockets to $27,000 per year if the patient is unable to operate a kidney machine in the home and must go to a hospital several times a week for the life saving treatment.

THE FEDERAL government finally took steps to aid kidney patients last year by making payment for the use of a kidney machine, known as dialysis, a function of the Medicare program. The program will mean roughly $16 million for Michigan's residents who kidneys have failed and are waiting for a transplant.

In order to implement the program in Michigan, the governor's Office of Health and Medical Affairs has put together a series of recommendations for both state and private activities to cope with kidney disease in the state. The report, which just went to the printers, recommends establishment of a statewide kidney sharing network, designation of kidney transplant centers and establishment of a network of dialysis centers to allow patients who can't have dialysis treatment in the home a place besides a hospital in which to take the treatment.

THE REPORT says as of January, 1973, there were 801 persons in the state known to be on dialysis because their kidneys had failed completely. Based on national averages, there would have been roughly 457 new cases in the state last year and 200 deaths. There were 105 successful kidney transplants.

While kidney failure is the most dramatic aspect of the picture, the report says the state and private agencies need to do much more work on other kidney diseases, both to educate the public and improve treatment of the diseases.

It says 265,000 women and 58,500 men suffered from some form of kidney disease at some time in 1973 in Michigan with a total annual cost of $160 million in medical costs, work lost and years of life lost.

THE PROPOSALS, which Gov. William G. Milliken called "a major accomplishment in preparing Michigan for assumption of its responsibilities" under the new law, include a recommendation for screening programs around the state to detect kidney disease. One example would be requiring school children to be checked for possible kidney disease, just as they now are required to have certain vaccinations. A general public education program on kidney diseases of all kind including publicizing of kidney donor programs, is recommended along with a program to make sure all doctors knew how to handle kidneys which are to be stored for transplantation.

Water billing ideal for other areas

Romulus' water and sewer billing system recently was highlighted as an ideal for other municipal billing systems at a convention in Flint.

The Nixdorf Corp. outlined Romulus' system for other governments to study during the meeting last week.

Operated by Larry Moore, Romulus' head of water and sewer billing, the system allows billing and posting of all water bills on a regular basis without computation by system operators.

The billing and posting operation now is being handled by two Nixdorf 800 mini-computers, which allow the operator of the system to use a three-digit number from the meter to record each reading period's usage.

The system soon will be updated to eliminate the standard meter reader books, replacing them with magnetic tape reading systems, which record the reading automatically to reduce human error.

Van Buren trustees favor new water board structure

The Van Buren Board of Trustees has approved a resolution supporting a proposal to place the Detroit Metropolitan Water Department under the jurisdiction of the Michigan Public Service Commission. The Detroit Metropolitan Water Department serves Van Buren Township and the surrounding communities.

The trustees acted on the resolution, following the receipt of a similar one from St. Clair Shores.

In other action the trustees approved a sand removal permit renewal for the Traskos-Hartwick Sand Removal Co. of Belleville. The permit is for one year.

The board also: —instructed the township clerk to advertise for bids on township hall's parking lot and driveway. Bids received are to be presented to the township hall's parking lot and driveway. Bids received are to be presented to the township board by April 9. —approved a motion to list the salary range for the township's new full-time recreation director as between $10,000 and $13,000 plus fringe benefits.

The recreation commission is reviewing 28 applicants who have filed applications for the new position and will make its recommendations to the township board soon.

Township planners okays bank sites

The Van Buren Township Planning Commission has approved site plans for the construction of two National Bank of Detroit (NBD) branch offices in Van Buren Township.

The two bank branches are housed in temporary trailer quarters at Ecorse and Belleville roads and at Rawsonville Road and the I-94 Expressway.

Sixteen Larsen, an NBD representative, told the planning commission that permanent facilities at the Ecorse-Belleville Roads site would be started immediately with completion set for June. The Rawsonville I-94 Expressway facility will be started in June and be completed by August.

pleted in about six to eight months.

Other matters considered by the planning commission at its recent meeting included the approval of a revised site plan for the proposed Wagon Wheel South Trailer Park, to be located on Michigan Avenue near Austin.

The trailer park developers said that commission's suggestions on park's roads, community building, area lighting and fencing along Michigan Avenue have been complied with.

Shower plan irks employees

A recent change in policy made by the Romulus Board of Education waiving showers as a must after gym classes at Romulus High School isn't popular with everyone.

A letter read at the Monday night meeting of the school board claimed that since many students don't voluntarily shower after gym, they are considered "offensive" to those around them.

The letter, signed by 38 "concerned employees" also pointed out that the school was the only place many had to use a shower.

Church appoints council

The Lutheran Church of the Apostles in Belleville has selected the church council's members and officers for 1974.

The new officers and members are Irvin Von Destimon, vice-president; Hal Drake, secretary; John Frinak, Christian education committee chairman; Bill Butts, church property committee chairman; Don Hasselbach, finance committee chairman; and Eldean Weidmayer, evangelism committee chairman.

Others named to the council were Dick Maton, social ministry committee chairman; Russ Jackson, stewardship committee chairman; Pat Fish, worship and music committee chairman; Maxine Jackson, financial secretary; and Bertha Thompson, treasurer.

Detroit Western wins, 83-74

Romulus regional dream shattered

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Just when the pieces appeared to fit in Romulus' cage machine, a malfunction occurred that crushed the Eagles' chances in Class A regional tournament competition.

Coach Jesse Meriweather's quintet was sidetracked again in its bid for the regional championship, this time by a hard-pressing Detroit Western team that carved out an 83-74 victory in the finals of the playoffs staged Saturday at Temperance Bedford.

For the past five years Romulus has won district titles but has been unable to get further than the regional finals.

"WE DIDN'T do what we were supposed to do," moaned Meriweather who completed his first year as the Eagles' head coach with a 17-7 win-loss record. "The guards couldn't get the ball to Long (John) and that was one of our problems."

Long, ended his prep cage career with a game high 27 points, kept the Eagles alive until the final two minutes when a Western surge widened a 69-68 lead, the closest Romulus got to making up a 60-54 third period deficit.

"You can never underestimate a Detroit team," pointed out Meriweather, "because of the competition it plays in the city league. Even if you play a Detroit team with a poor record it could be tough because they play some excellent teams."

Romulus struggled most of the night after the Eagles missed on their first five shots. Western edged Romulus 16-15 in the first period, however, the Eagles came back to put on their best show in the second eight minutes, which staked them to a 36-33 halftime lead.

But Western was in command of the final two periods, leading 60-54 going into the final period.

THE DETROITERS won the game at the free throw line where they stashed away 16 of 21 charities, 14 of those in the final period.

Meriweather searched for an answer to the "jinx" which seems to hover over Romulus teams during regional tournament games.

"I just can't understand it," the Romulus coach said, "I really think it's some sort of hex. A couple of years ago we beat an outstanding Ann Arbor Pioneer team only to lose the regional title to an unranked Allen Park team, then last year we thought we had the horses to go all the way and again we had a breakdown."

Meriweather also offered, "That it wasn't Western's press that beat us, in essence, we beat ourselves by doing things we never did before. Several times we had players fast-breaking, our three against their one and couldn't capitalize on the situation."

Romulus must have seen the handwriting on the wall as the Eagles couldn't buy a basket in the first couple of minutes of the game. In fact Long's "sure thing" — a corner shot

Eagles dump Chadsey

The rugged Detroit Public School League finally took its toll on Romulus High's basketball team in the finals of last week's regional tour-namment in the state Class A playoffs, but not before the Eagles had made their mark on it.

Western High belted running game, 75-64, at host Temperance-Bedford High.

"We ran 'em right out," contended Eagle coach Jesse Meriweather. "Chadsey couldn't cope with our running game."

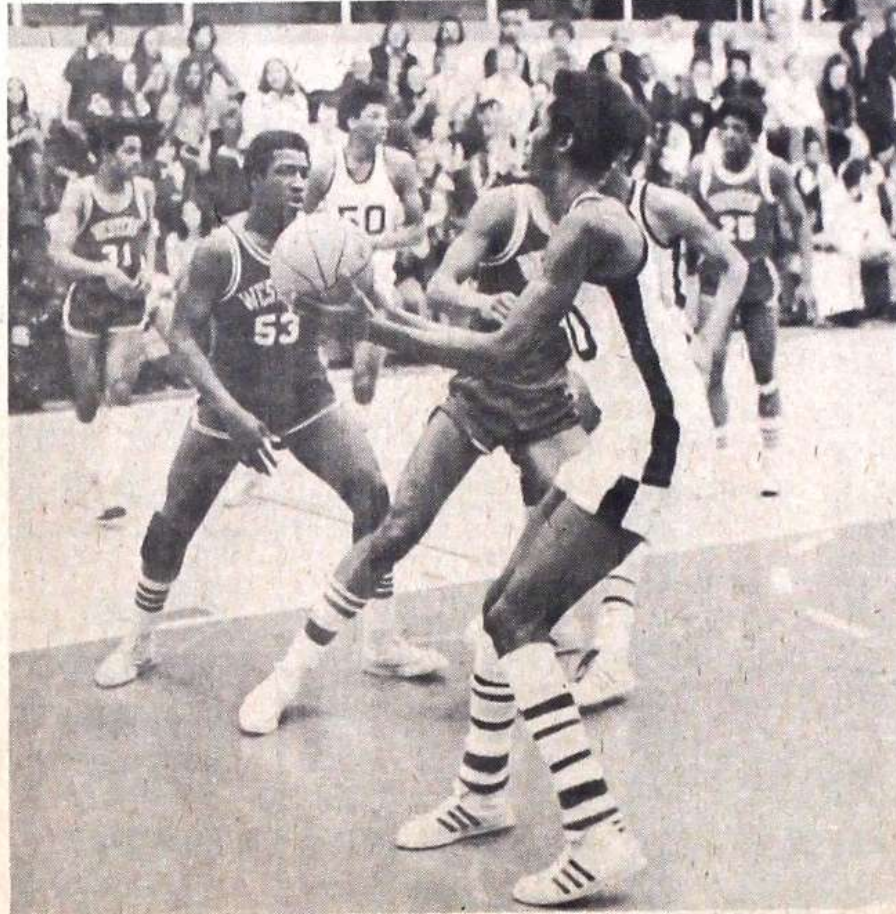

The victory hiked Romulus' win-loss record on the season to 17-6 and advanced the Eagles to the finals, where they were ousted from the running for the state title.

Chadsey enjoyed a hot-shooting first quarter in claiming a 20-16 lead, but Romulus hustled back for a 19-9 second quarter edge and a 35-29 halftime lead.

The teams played even ball in the third quarter with each scoring 18 points, but the Eagle quickness finally sent Chadsey reeling in the final eight minutes.

Johnny Long again paced the scoring entourage with 33 points for Romulus, followed by James Hall's 18 and Irwin Gibson's 11.

Irving Giddings canned 13 for Chadsey while Gary Burns and James Calvin had 10 apiece.

MOMENT OF DECISION — While Detroit Western's defense maneuvers to plug the gaps, Romulus' James Hall (with ball) ponders his next move. Hall drilled in 11 points in the first period and ended up with 19 as the Eagles' regional title hopes were crushed by the Detroiters who qualified for the Class A state quarter-finals tomorrow with an 83-74 victory.

Tiger swimmers look good at AAU meet

Belleville Tiger Swim Club members fared well at the recently staged Shamrock Splash Swim Meet held at Stevenson High School.

The meet was hosted by the Livonia Spartan Aquatic Club. In the 10 and under boys' competition John Kause won five ribbons, including a first place in the 100-yard individual medley (1:24.0); two fourth places — 200-yard freestyle (2:44.0) and 50-yard backstroke (41.5) and a sixth in the 50-yard butterfly (40.0).

Teammate LeRoy Burcroft was the top performer in the 50-yard breaststroke (41.5).

In the 11-12 age group, Mike Stoelton placed fifth in the 50-yard freestyle (30.4).

Donna Keyser also had an excellent day in the 15-17 age group in girls division. She swam second in the 200-yard freestyle (2:31.6), and was fourth in the 100-yard backstroke (1:21.5) and fifth for the 100-yard breaststroke (1:33.5). Teammate Kim Liedel placed sixth in the 100-yard butterfly (1:27.6).

Other swimmers who won heat ribbons included: Tracy Bunnell, Janis Burgess, Becky Thomas, LeRoy Burcroft, Mike Sterling, John Kause, Mike Stoelton, Jim Kause, Phil Berger and Mark Stoelton.

— didn't start finding the target until late in the game.

Western rolled to a quick 6-0 lead as Alvin Berger, Ron Simpkins and Jake Battle ripped off the first six Cowboy points before James Hall tapped one in for the Eagles.

Western, pressing all the way, forced Romulus into several turnovers which helped Anthony Wheeler get six points and, before three minutes had elapsed in the first period the Detroiters were enjoying a 12-2 advantage.

Hall kept Romulus alive in those early minutes as he accounted for 11 of 15 points while Long got the other four.

SIMPKINS scored the first two buckets of the second period to widen the Cowboy margin to 20-15, however, Rick Hubbert came off the bench and sparked a Romulus rally with 10 of his 14 points that gave the Eagles a three-point lead at the half.

ROMULUS' lead was short-lived as Berger sandwiched a couple of baskets between Long's jump shot to give the Detroiters' the lead 39-38 and the stage was set for a period that saw the Eagles unsuccessfully fighting for survival.

With the score tied for the last time at 44-44, Western's John Dillard connected on a pair of baskets to give the Cowboys the lead for good.

The Eagles didn't give up though, as Long led a fourth period comeback with six points to lift the losers within one point, 69-68, of catching up. Then, with 2:44 left, Hall missed an easy layup that would have given the Eagles the lead and Western came back to make 12 free throws as Romulus was forced to foul in attempt to break the Cowboy stall.

Long's 27 points — 13 baskets and a free throw — earned for him the game's individual scoring honors. Hall and Hubbert also ended up in double figures with 19 and 14 points respectively.

Western's balanced attack, which included all five starters in double figures, was led by Berger who had 26. Wheeler added 16, while Simpkins chipped in 17.

Cage fans ask some questions

By TOM MOORADIAN

Here's some answers to questions that were frequently asked by fans or overheard in the crowd last Friday at the Livonia Franklin and Waterford Kettering regional championship basketball game held at Franklin.

QUESTION: How come Livonia Franklin got to host the regionals — and the championships — thereby getting the home court advantage?

ANSWER: The Michigan High School Athletic Association designates the district and regional tournament sites which are revealed before the season. Franklin knew it would be hosting the regional, however, the Patriots didn't know that their team would survive the district playoffs as five other teams, including Livonia Churchill, Livonia Stevenson, Livonia Bentley, Garden City East and Garden City West all had equal shots at the district title and, therefore, becoming the district representative at the Franklin regional tournament.

QUESTION: How many regional basketball championships has Livonia Franklin won prior to this year's title?

ANSWER: "We have searched our books and can't find the answer. However, someone said that former coach, John Hartsig, did win a regional title," said Visser, Franklin coach Bob Visser. "But, in the six years I have been here this is our first regional title and our second district championship. In fact, our first four years we had difficulty winning a single tournament game."

QUESTIONS: Where will Kevin Kaseta, Livonia Franklin's super center go to college?

ANSWER: Kevin's older brother, Tony, attends the University of Detroit where he also plays on the varsity baseball team. However, don't bet that "little brother" will follow big brother's footsteps.

"Kevin has scores of offers from as far away as Oregon and also from several Big 10 schools," said Visser, "however, he has made no commitments and has said that right now he's only interested in completing his high school career and helping the team win the next game. I know he will make the right decision when the time comes."

QUESTION: Where will the quarter-final game between Franklin and Brother Rice be played?

ANSWER: "We really don't know but on Monday the MHSAA will reveal the site. It has to be a neutral site where neither team has practiced or played," said Visser. "I'm taking a long shot guess. I think we probably will play them at Ferndale High." The game will be played on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. If Franklin should win, the Patriots would move into the "big house" — the University of Michigan — on Saturday for the semi-final round.

QUESTION — Is there any more Kasetas coming up from the ranks?

ANSWER — Beware, Mike Kaseta, is a ninth grader who also plays basketball and football.

Meanwhile, at Temperance Bedford where Romulus was sidetracked by Detroit Western in its bid for a regional title, Romulus fans were wondering out loud if the regionals weren't jinx.

QUESTION: Are the regional tournaments jinx for Romulus?

ANSWER: "In the past I didn't think so," said Coach Jesse Meriweather, "but I really think there is something to it now. I'm from basketball country (Indiana) and I'm not belittling Western which is a fine team but something inexplicable happened to our boys out there. They didn't play their game at all. We didn't have togetherness we had shown this year and we were doing things that we never did before like dribbling the ball up the middle when there were two men open on the sides."

Ex-Belleville cager named all-conference

Center Al Cicotte and guard Darryl Weston of Henry Ford Community College's basketball team have been voted top cagers for the all-conference team of the Eastern Collegiate Conference.

Cicotte, an ex-Belleville High star, topped a field of 12 with 48 votes while Weston and Glenn Stewart, who is the centerman from Monroe College, shared second-place honors with 45 votes each.

Weston led the Henry Ford Hawks in conference scoring with 242 total points which was good for a 20.2 average.

Cicotte was second with 175 tallies which figures out to a 17.5 clip.

Weston's best effort in conference play came against Monroe College when he registered 36 points on Feb. 2.

Cicotte's most impressive game was on Jan. 15 when the Hawk center dumped in 28 points against Auburn Hills.

Other standouts voted to the all-conference squad were Chris Allen and Charles Johnson from Highland Park, Monte Herring and Lenny Ratliff from Highland Lakes and Willie Byrd from Washtenaw.

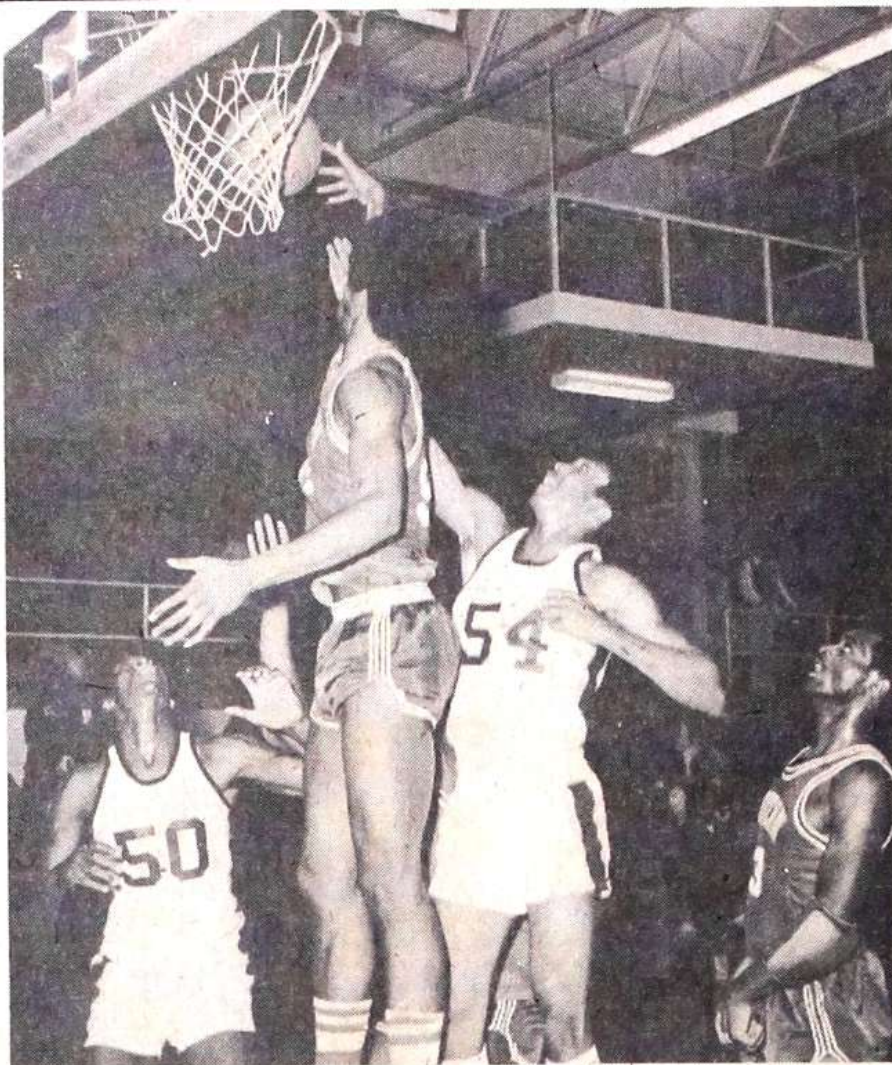

Along with Monroe's Glenn Stewart are teammates Lenny Baccus and Keith Williams.

Brian Dinsmore from Schoolcraft College and Len Twinski from Auburn Hills received honorable mention recognition from the conference coaches who conducted the voting and tabulations.

With the exception of Allen and Johnson, the all-conference squad will challenge Highland Park College in an all-star game later this month at Hackett Field House in Highland Park.

Monroe cage coach Cliff Young will pilot the all-conference team against Highland Park.

Wrestling coaches to meet Wednesday

Area high school wrestling coaches who feel they have candidates for the 1974 Associated Newspapers' All-Area team are urged to attend Wednesday's meeting to be held at The Daily Eagle offices, 35540 W. Michigan Ave., Wayne at 5:30 p.m.

The team will be selected from the following high schools: Belleville, Romulus, Wayne Memorial, Westland, John Glenn, Garden City East, Garden City West, Cherry Hill, Livonia, Churchill, Franklin and Plymouth Canton.

If a coach can't attend he is urged to contact either sports editor Tom Mooradian or sportswriter Dale Gowing (729-4000) and nominate any candidate or candidates he feels is eligible for the team.

RIGHT ON — Coming off the bench in the second period, Romulus' energetic guard Rick Hubbert (24) blasts his way past teammate Johnny Long (50) and Detroit Western's John Dillard (31) to score this layup. Enterprise Roman photo.

Sports Meridian

By TOM MOORADIAN

Dear Mr. Mooradian,

I was very disappointed with The Daily Eagle's coverage of the State Wrestling Tournament. Why is it that the headline for the paper March 11th was "Franklin covets district title," when it was only a district game?

Don't you feel that State Wrestling Tournament deserves the headline since it is of more importance than something of a district level?

Also, you gave the area boys, mainly Wayne Memorial, such a big buildup before the state tournament and when the results of all these boys' hard work pays off, all they get is an article crammed in between the basketball pictures and articles at the bottom of the page.

LAST OF ALL, the article itself wasn't really adequate for the honors these boys received. For instance, Randy Steckroth (Garden City West) places second in the state and gets one line and even worse, Brad Smith, (Romulus), who placed first, gets only two lines in the article.

Do you think this is fair?

It's really too bad that wrestling has been classified as second best in your paper behind basketball.

Thanks for listening,
Sue Vassel

Dear Sue,

I have a strange feeling you're majoring in journalism because all of your comments are well argued and to the point. I agree with you, there should have been more coverage.

However, we also deal in deadlines.

And many of the area coaches didn't come back from Grand Rapids until Monday morning, too late for us to get quotes and facts. We called several homes Sunday until late p.m., then gave up.

We also have a weekly newspaper and Brad Smith's accomplishments were duly written up in our Enterprise Roman weekly newspaper.

Thanks for keeping us on our toes.

Tigers hopeful

LAKELAND, Fla. — The optimistic banter is much like it is most years in spring training for the Detroit Tigers.

"If we get off to a good start, I think we'll make some people eat crow," says pitcher Joe Coleman.

"I think we're going to surprise a lot of people," adds outfielder Jim Northrup. "The critics have written us off, but we've got a lot of guys who want to win."

"BALTIMORE IS the team to beat and we have as good a chance as anyone else of beating them," chimes in new Manager Ralph Houk.

The Tigers still have the ability to battle with the contenders - but when it's all over, it looks like they'll be third in the American League East, behind Baltimore and Boston.

Having guys who want to win might help, but it won't help overcome Detroit's questionable pitching staff, lack of hitting superstars and absence of speed.

Al Kaline will be the designated hitter and can reach the 3,000-hit circle with 139 more hits. He has a .299 career batting average but beyond him, nobody can routinely be expected to hit .300.

THERE ARE good hitters like Willie Horton, Northrup and Bill Freehan - but they are inconsistent. The team was second in the league with 157 home runs last season - but it seems to have passed the point where the long ball can do it all for them. In 1973, for instance, Norm Cash led the team in homers with 19 - but had only 40 runs batted in.

ELMER JOHNSON PARK

PROPOSED LAYOUT — This rendering is looking to the north east in the Elmer Johnson Park as it will appear after being fully developed the next two years. The Romulus City Council is expected to consider bids on the more than $100,000 development project for the portion of the park to the south of the picture. Included in the development will be lighting of the men's softball field. The portion to the north will be developed sometime next year.

Van Buren purchases voting units

The Van Buren Township Board of Trustees has approved the purchase of six new voting machines at a cost of $13,920.

The increase in the number of voting machines for the township is due to the increase to 10 township voting precincts, according to Township Clerk Patricia Cullin.

Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer said that efforts by the township's administration to find used voting machines were unsuccessful.

THE INCREASE in the number of voting precincts was due to an increase in the township's population, which necessitated the splitting up of two precincts and the redistricting of the rest.

In other action considered at their recent session, the trustees voted to support a resolution from Huron Township which opposes the proposed Michigan postcard Voter Registration Act.

The trustees also instructed Township Attorney John Axe to draft a similar resolution for Van Buren Township.

The board also approved the initiation of court action against operators of a sand removal firm for alleged damage done to surrounding property. The firm is located on the north service drive of the I-94 Expressway between Haggerty and Hannan roads.

THE BOARD ALSO: —granted a request made by Landy W. Box to dredge the frontage of lot 29 on Belleville Lake.

Box told the board that his request involves the leveling off of approximately 12 inches of a sand bar in front of his lakeside home to enable him to get the family's boat up to the shoreline. It would make it safer for boating in general, he said.

—tabled formal action of a request by the water and sewer commission, calling for the installation of larger water meters in apartment buildings.

—APPROVED an administration request to advertise for bid proposals for a sewer line extension of approximately 750 feet at Rawsonville Road and the I-94 Expressway and the sale of 50 stackable chairs and 12 rectangular tables.

—tabled formal action on a revised plumbing fee schedule until the March 26 board meeting.

Delegates to attend meeting

The annual meeting of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. on March 27 at St. Paul United Church of Christ in Chelsea.

At the meeting, the 121 delegates will elect officers for the upcoming year, vote on policy and bylaw proposals and attend discussion groups.

They also will take advisory votes on the council's position on coed programs and on the power of the national board to set and change membership standards.

Businessmen secure jobs for ex-con rehabilitation

A National Alliance of Businessmen's (NAB) program to find employment and training for ex-offenders is attacking a problem about which the nation has talked a lot, but has done very little.

NAB Chairman, Richard C. Gerstenberg, described the group's effort as the organization's "most difficult" challenge. However, he added that "it is a challenge that we intend to meet, and opportunity we intend to fulfill." According to Gerstenberg, the gap between theory and action is clearly demonstrated by a recent Harris poll of employers. The poll showed that 72 per cent of all employers interviewed endorsed the idea that the goal of correctional programs should be rehabilitation.

However, nearly half of those polled (43 per cent) said they would hesitate to employ this man as a janitor.

For the most part, the man released from prison is very much alone, Gerstenberg said. The old image of a man getting a new suit, a $20 bill, a handshake from the warden and a bus ticket back to his old bad neighborhood still is true today in most cases.

"Unless the situation is reversed and businesses actively seek and employ ex-offenders," NAB president of recidivism, or return to prison. "It's simply good business to move people from prison to the nation's wage earning work force."

The Detroit metropolitan National Alliance of Businessmen JOBS for Ex-Offender Program has been in existence since July, 1973 and to date has placed 365 to 370 ex-offenders in jobs.

Companies, interested in hiring an ex-offender, should contact Edmund Chilvin at the NAB office, 600 E. Lafayette, Detroit.

Contract is studied

Representatives of the Teamsters' Local 214 of the State, County and Municipal Workers and Belleville city officials are scheduled to meet April 1 in another negotiating session on the city's first police employment contract.

The city's three-member negotiating team, consisting of Belleville Mayor Royce E. Smith, Police Commissioner and Councilman Howard R. Stinehour and City Attorney B. Ward Smith have been studying proposals submitted by the union last December 10.

Mayor Smith said that if Belleville is to meet the police contract demands, the city would have to ask for millage increase.

The union proposal calls for a $314 increase in the starting salary with top pay of $11,414 after 12 years of service.

The union local, which is the bargaining agent for the five-member police force, exclusive of supervisory personnel, also demands seniority rights, improved fringe benefits and a dues check-off system.

The union also is seeking a starting pay of $9,000. Police officers currently get a salary

Michigan Bell begins new construction plan

Michigan Bell has reported that it has embarked on a record construction program during 1974 which calls for an expenditure of nearly $420 million in Michigan, including more than $4 million in the Belleville area.

The total expenditures will be for the expansion and improvement of communication facilities.

Company president, David K. Easlick said Michigan Bell has committed itself to the record outlay even though "neither the immediate economic outlook nor the company's poor earnings would ordinarily encourage an investment of this magnitude."

EASLICK said the construction program is based on forecasts that, despite the present instability in the economy, there will be continuing long-term growth in telephone customers and calling, requiring major expansion of communications facilities.

"We must look ahead and plan for the future," Easlick said. "It is less costly to anticipate future growth and to build now than it would be to engage in a 'crash' construction program at a later date," he said. "And, in the long run, a 'catch-up' construction program would cost us and our customers more money and wouldn't meet satisfactorily our service obligations to them."

Stressing the importance of the company's program to the economy, Easlick said it would support directly some 20,000 jobs — half of them in Michigan — in the telephone company and in such industries as construction and manufacturing.

Easlick added that providing communications services requires a lead time of months and even years in some instances in the planning, engineering and manufacturing of the increasingly complex equipment needed to meet customer demands.

"AND, we have to keep ahead of population shifts and local growth, too," he said.

"It costs money to meet customer expectations and to keep a step ahead of growth," he said. "Our 1974 construction budget is a reflection of this." Easlick added the company has spent over $2.2 billion during the past decade for new construction in Michigan, nearly $1.5 billion of it in the past five years.

He said that the 1974 statewide construction budget is up 19.3 percent over 1973 expenditures of $352 million. This is slightly more than the 15.4 per cent increase in 1973 over the previous year and is, in part, due to the continuing escalating effects of inflation. Michigan Bell provides service to over 2.7 million customers in all or part of 76 of the state's 83 counties.

The company expects to add about 185,000 telephones this year, which will bring its total telephones to over 5.3 million. The company anticipates handling over 9.6 billion local and long distance calls this year as compared with 8.9 billion in 1973.

Measles aren't part of growing

Measles is preventable. It should not be a part of growing up, as many residents used to think. To aid Western Wayne County residents in spotting different types of measles, their symptoms are listed:

MEASLES — (Rubella, red, hard, seven to 10 days) is a severe contagious disease of children, characterized by high fever, runny nose, cough, and a skin rash.

It is spread from child to child by droplets from the infected persons mouth or nose. The disease, from onset of fever to end of rash lasts about 10 to 14 days. Measles victims may suffer complications of the disease including pneumonia, middle ear infections, encephalitis (brain fever) and even death.

RUBELLA — (German Measles, three day) is a mild disease in children, but if a woman acquires the disease early in pregnancy the unborn may become infected with deformations or death resulting.

By immunizing children against rubella we prevent spread of the disease and possible death to the unborn. Rubella is spread by droplets from the mouth or nose.

Grants finance training plan

Job training and placement is available to the unemployed in Western Wayne County through a new federal program called "Operation Mainstream."

Persons, age 22 to 55, are eligible for paid training and job placement through the program, financed with a $300,000 grant from the federal government and aimed at the economically disadvantaged. Maximum income level requirements keep the program specifically for disadvantaged applicants for jobs and training, a program spokesman said. The applicants must not be receiving unemployment compensation, although persons, whose unemployment compensation has run out are eligible. Training periods last from three weeks to two months during which the trainee is paid through the program.

Applicants can call 478-1620 or go to 19500 Middlebelt Rd. in Livonia, suite 221, for further information.

Persons seeking to participate in the program should not be handicapped and must fit into the economically disadvantaged category.

The program has been processing from 50 to 200 people each week and will be in effect until Sept. 14.

Persons who live in Wayne County, but not in the City of Detroit, are eligible for participation.

Schools collect aid

The Romulus Community Schools and the Van Buren Public School District were among 581 school systems in the state to share more than $160 million in February school aid payments.

The Romulus school system collected $337,650 as its share of the allotment. Van Buren netted $428,690 for its payment total.

State school aid payments during the 1973-74 school year have totaled nearly $1 billion so far.

The Detroit school system received the largest payment with a check for $22,298,750.

The Fredonia School District in Calhoun County collected the smallest payment, $30.

Jaycees promote jam sale

The Romulus Jaycees already hit the streets, promoting the sale of jelly for charity.

The Jaycees will be out until March 31 selling jars of jelly for $1.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

HAROLD REDISKE, JR., DIRECTORS

We hear a lot these days about a program to do this or that. For some strange reason, an amount of money is nearly always mentioned as the first requirement to put it over. It would seem sensible to stop and think whether money by itself can ever put a program in effect, or put it over. We often seem to think that if we spend a certain sum (and the more the better), anything can be done. This is simply not so.

The most important requirement in ANY program is people. Without people, no program can succeed. The support of people is needed and to obtain good support, good leadership is needed. Good leadership attracts good support. Good leadership attracts good support.

People can think and reason because they have mind and soul. For that reason, people respond to leadership. A good leader will lead people, not drive them. People are not cattle. You drive cattle. You lead people...

PUBLIC HEARING

Opportunity for Hearing

All interested persons are hereby advised that the Wayne County Road Commission is proposing the improvement of Goddard Extension between Rogell Drive and Middle Belt Road. The proposed improvement includes the widening and resurfacing of the existing road, providing a passing lane at the entrance ramp to Rogell Drive, and providing better roadside control.

Information concerning this proposed project, including preliminary plans and an evaluation of the social, economic, and environmental aspects of the project, is available for public review at the Wayne County Road Commission offices located at 415 Clifford Street, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

The project is proposed to receive Federal aid, and under provisions of Federal law, any person who would be affected by the proposed improvement may request, in writing, that a formal hearing be held concerning the social, economic, and environmental effects of this project. Such a request should be mailed to Mr. Robert A. Larson, Director of Transportation Programs, Wayne County Road Commission, 415 Clifford Street, Detroit, Michigan 48226. This request must be received on or before April 11, 1974.

Easter Seal Society is important

One-hundred and fifty-one handicapped persons in the Daily Eagle areas have received assistance from the Wayne County Easter Seal Society since September, 1973.

County, noted that 530 persons in Wayne County have been aided by the Society. In the Daily Eagle area, there were 18 cases in Wayne, 39 in Westland, 43 in Inkster, 5 in Belleville and 46 in Garden City.

"This aid takes many forms," Archer said, "including financial assistance, information and referral and the loan of needed equipment, such as wheelchairs, crutches, braces, walkers, etc."

IN ADDITION the Easter Seal Society maintains three rehabilitation centers located

Capitol travel tip helps

An information center in the nation's capital has published two free brochures, geared to helping tourists get to Washington D.C. without their cars and informing handicapped visitors on the facilities available at the various attractions.

"Washington: The Easiest City To Get To" lists the various transportation services available in the city, including its airports, the train terminal located three blocks from the Capitol Building and bus terminals within a five-minute ride of the mall.

"Washington: The City For Everybody" describes facilities for handicapped persons at the capital's historic monuments.

For a copy of either one of the brochures, write the Washington Area Convention and Visitors Bureau, 1129 20th St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

18 candidates compete for recreation position

Eighteen eligible candidates out of 28 who have filed applications for the position of Van Buren Township's first full-time recreation director have been interviewed by members of the township's parks and recreation commission.

The commission has been instructed by the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees to interview the candidates and present their recommendations to the board this month.

Commissioners plan coordinating services

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has authorized the creation of a special committee to study the feasibility of establishing a single office to coordinate all youth services in the county.

The study was proposed in a resolution by Commissioners Mary E. Dumas (R-Livonia) and Tom F. Taylor (D-Westland), both members of the board's Human Resources Committee.

In the resolution, Taylor and Mrs. Dumas cite a "lack of coordination of the numerous Wayne County public, private and voluntary agencies involved in service delivery to children and youth that results in overlapping and duplication of efforts while leaving gaps in services."

The resolution also notes that state legislation is pending that would establish a single department of human services.

CITY OF ROMULUS ORDINANCE

CHAPTER VIII
ARTICLE 2.1
ORDINANCE TO PROHIBIT CONNECTION OF GROUND DRAINAGE, ROOF DRAINS AND-OR DOWNSPOUTS TO THE CITY'S SANITARY SEWER SYSTEM; TO PERMIT A PERIOD OF TIME TO DISCONNECT THE PRESENT CONNECTIONS FROM THE SEWERS AND TO PROVIDE FOR PENALTIES FOR VIOLATION OF THE ORDINANCE.

WHEREAS, the City Council of the City of Romulus deems it to be in the best interest of the public health and welfare of the residents of the community to decrease the rapid flow of ground or surface drainage into the sanitary sewers of the City to eliminate flooding of basements and, in order to accomplish this, to prohibit the connection of surface, subsurface or roof drains to the sanitary sewers of the City of Romulus, and to provide for the disconnection of roof drains and downspouts that are presently connected to the sewer system;

NOW, THEREFORE, THE CITY OF ROMULUS ORDAINS:

Section 1. Short title. Ordinance to prohibit connection of weeping tile, roof drains and-or downspouts to the City's sanitary sewer system.

Section 2. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, fiduciary, lessee, owner and-or occupant of any building, structure or premises to have or permit the use of the connection of any downspout or footing drains, conduits or other device or apparatus of any kind or nature whatsoever which allows or permits any surface, subsurface or storm water from any roof, yard or premises to be deposited directly or indirectly into the sanitary sewer.

Section 3. All persons, firms or corporations, fiduciary, lessees, owners and occupants of any building, structure or premises shall disconnect all roof drains from the City storm and sanitary sewer system upon receipt of notice by first class mail, and they shall be given a reasonable time to comply with the directive to disconnect all roof drains, but that said time shall not exceed forty-five (45) days from the date of mailing of said notice. In the event the property owner neglects or refuses to follow the written directive, then a final five (5) day certified notice shall be mailed directing compliance with the previous notice, and if the property owner then neglects or refuses to comply with said notice, the City Inspector or his employees shall have the power and authority at all reasonable hours to enter upon the premises for the purpose of disconnecting the roof drains and to assess the cost thereof against the property pursuant to the City Charter. Any person refusing or neglecting to make such disconnection when so directed, after due notice, shall be deemed guilty of violation of this Ordinance and liable to prosecution thereof.

Section 4. Any violation of, or failure to comply with, the provisions of this Ordinance shall be punishable by a fine of not to exceed One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) and-or ninety (90) days imprisonment, or both.

Section 5. This Ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency Ordinance necessary for the preservation of the public health, safety and welfare, and is to be given immediate effect upon publication.

I, Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk for the City of Romulus do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an ordinance adopted by the Romulus City Council at its regular meeting held March 5, 1974.

NOTICE TO BUYERS!
There will probably not be a better time than right now to bargain for a home of your own. Interest rates have leveled off and it does not appear that they will drop in the foreseeable future. We have many homes listed that the sellers have said to "get them a reasonable offer" so they can continue with their plans. So if you're planning to purchase in the near future, do it now. It makes sense to Call George Smith Realty and get all the facts.

ROOM TO ROOM!!
On this acre with a beautiful custom built 4 bedroom ranch home with 2 1/2 car attached garage. There are 2 natural fireplaces and 2 full baths. Completely carpeted except for kitchen. The basement is finished with wet bar and cooking area. There is an in-ground pool with bath house. Let us show you 40990 Savage Rd in Belleville. Call 721-4241.
